Charles Place plans rejected

by Arlene Surprenant
Wilmington Planning Board members had their work cut out for them Tuesday night as they debated and finally voted disapproval, with many reasons, of the 56 lot subdivision known as Charles Place. The reasons were in the form of a three page list compiled by Planning Coordinator Sandy Murphy. If the developer meets all the conditions, the board may then grant approval of the plan at a later date.

Complicating their decision was lack of input from the Conservation Commission, which will hold its own public meeting on the plan next Wednesday night.

Initially, Chairman Carole Hamilton suggested they operate under the assumption that they would see a "substantial change" in the plan once the Conservation Commission reviews it. Any large change, she pointed out, would require a re-submission of the plan and a second public hearing.

Also, said Hamilton, some of the lots don't conform in width. If revisions result in any change other than increased frontage and area to the existing lots, this revision could also require a re-submission and a new public hearing, she added.

Discussion also centered around a subdivision regulation which allows the planning board to set aside six lots which the town may purchase for open space. According to the regulation, if the town doesn't exercise its right to buy the land within three years, it may go back to the owner to be developed.

Other reasons for disapproving the plan included the fact that a reported 25 percent of property abutters may not have received notification, several easements for utilities on site were not shown, various lots don't conform, and an environmental impact study is required.

According to Hamilton, "the ball is now out of our court."

Abutter Alan Michel, who is the petitioner of an article at June's special town meeting to take the land by eminent domain, proclaimed himself satisfied with the board's decision.

"As long as real progress is being made" and "things are moving along in a rational way," Michel said after the meeting, he may not continue with the eminent domain article. "all we want is to stick by the process," he added.

Woman recovering after shooting

A jammed pistol may have saved the life of a Wilmington woman, the victim of a shooting on Saturday night off West Street in Wilmington.

Linda Rinaldi, 40, of Sherburne Place suffered a single gunshot wound in the left side. She was hit by one of three bullets fired into her car. The bullet punctured one lung, but hit no other vital organs.

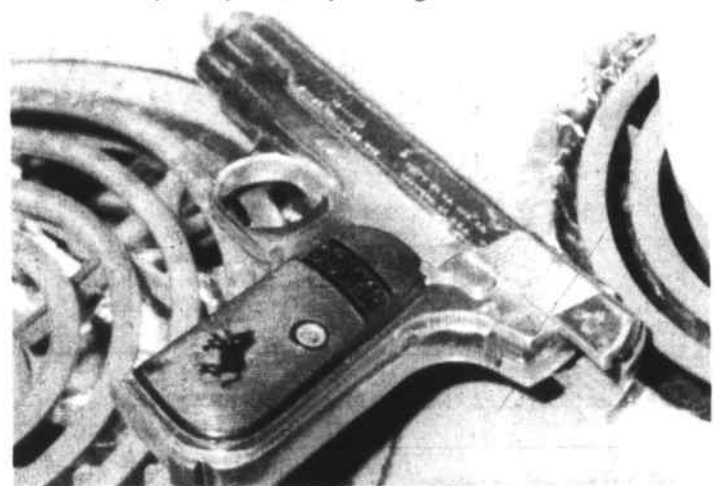

She was taken to the Mass. General Hospital, where she underwent emergency surgery. She is recovering satisfactorily.

The shooting took place at 104A West Street about 10:30 p.m. Police found a gun in the house at 104 West Street, which had been taken from the suspect by Anthony Campala, resident of the house where the shooting took place. The gun was jammed, with four bullets still in the clip.

On Sunday at 5:30 p.m., Wilmington detectives arrested James Paiva, 56, presently living in Cambridge. He is a former Wilmington resident.

Paiva was arraigned in Woburn District Court on charges including attempted murder, assault with intent to murder, assault and battery by means of a dangerous weapon, and the unlicensed carrying of a firearm. He was held in $100,000 surety bail or $10,000 cash bail. He is being held at the Middlesex County jail in Cambridge.

Jammed

This .32 calibre Colt automatic was jammed when police found it on Saturday night, following the shooting of a Wilmington woman. Ownership has not yet been determined, but police believe the gun was used in the shooting.

Memorial Day

Laurie Carrasco Buckland delivered the Gettysburg Address from memory during Memorial Day ceremonies at Wildwood Cemetery on Monday. Wilmington's Memorial Day observances were this year dedicated to her late father, Rudy Carrasco. For many years, it was he who delivered the Gettysburg Address. (Other pictures, pages 12-13)

Work begins on ice arena

by Arlene Surprenant
With the last stumbling block overcome, Wilmington is rapidly moving toward the day four to six months hence when it can boast the completion of its long awaited ice arena off Main Street.

According to Arena Authority Chairman Jim Gillis, approvals for a curb, cut for an access road onto the site, came approximately 10 days ago. That was considered the last stumbling block to the project. Now, he added, work has begun in earnest this week to pave the road and begin construction of the 85 by 200 foot building.

The work is being undertaken by contractor Honco Inc. from Quebec. According to Bill Harrington of Boston's Westchester Group, a public relations consulting firm hired to handle information and the formal groundbreaking ceremony, Honco deals "exclusively" with ice rinks and skating clubs. The Wilmington arena, he said, will be the "first original design" Honco has done in the United States. And since Honco has such a good reputation and does "excellent" work, added Harrington, "it will be a first class job."

The original $1.5 million price tag of the project will, in actuality, come out to approximately $2.4 million counting the preliminary costs of legal, design, and engineering preparations, explained Harrington. About $1.5 million of the cost, at this writing, will be borne by developer Ben Ristuccia, who has waited as impatiently as the rest of the town for construction to finally get underway.

The as yet unnamed building will be an energy efficient shell unit with a seating capacity of approximately 1,100 people. It will be totally enclosed and equipped for hockey league competition, said Harrington, adding that there is some interest on the part of the Boston Bruins in using the rink as a training site.

The rink will be made available to neighboring communities for hockey games, figure skating, and free skating, Harrington continued. Time will also be reserved for adult skating each week.

The new arena has stirred "considerable interest" from nearby skating clubs, said Harrington, something verified by Gillis who said much of his time has been spent fielding phone calls from outside groups. His "stock answer," Gillis said, is that Wilmington's needs will be considered first and then they will work other groups into the schedule. Both he and Harrington note it's been "quite a burden" on parents who were forced to transport sons and daughters to skating facilities in other towns for practice and competition.

A tentative date in mid-June has been set for the formal groundbreaking ceremony, confirming the fact that the skating center is indeed underway. Though he wasn't able to release the date at this time, Harrington told the Town Crier the festivities will include a parade with music by a marching band, a symbolic groundbreaking, and refreshments and favors provided for invited guests. Also present will be members of the Wilmington Youth Hockey teams and well known figures from the National Hockey League.

Carnival gets green light

Wilmington, it seems, will have a Fourth of July carnival after all.

The Wilmington Board of Appeals Tuesday night unanimously approved an application for a permit to hold a carnival on the junior varsity baseball field behind Wilmington High School.

The Fourth of July Committee must still go before the school committee and the selectmen for approval.

The carnival has been an annual event at the high school since 1980. The site became a problem this year because construction in the parking lot previously used for the carnival. The Fourth of July Committee at first proposed to relocate the carnival to the so-called Swain School parking lot, a large, recently paved area between the Swain School and the Fourth of July Headquarters. Neighbors objected and hired a lawyer, leading the committee to withdraw its application for that site.

Five persons spoke in opposition to the granting of the permit. Most of the objections came from John Sanborn and Bob Woods.

Sanborn went on at length about the town paying for police detail for a privately owned carnival. Appeals chairman Bruce MacDonald ruled that his questions were not relevant to the matter before the board.

Jim Stewart, a member of both the Board of Selectmen and the Fourth of July Committee, said that the town would be paying for police only on the two nights with fireworks. Other nights, police would be auxiliary or an Explorer post sponsored by the Wilmington Police Association.

There will be full-time protection in the high school, Stewart said.

Stewart also said that churches and organizations had agreed to the use of their parking lots. There will be a bus used on the busiest nights, to transport people to and from outlying parking areas.

Several streets in the immediate area will have no parking, and some will be closed to all people except residents.

Among the concerns raised by Bob Woods was that of a neighbor who is quite ill. Will he be able to sleep at night with the carnival across the street?

Woods, a retired fire lieutenant, also raised the question of distance between the carnival and the fireworks, saying that he did not think the state fire marshal would approve. MacDonald said that the fire chief had approval of that matter.

MacDonald asked how many of those present were in favor of the carnival. Many of the people in the room raised their hands.

Following that, some people tried to pin down MacDonald on a more specific question. MacDonald told Bob Bergenheim that if he had a particular question, perhaps he should be the one to ask it, and would be, Bergenheim declined.

Frank McLean of Temple Street said that he had no objections to the carnival. He expressed his support and appreciation of Jack Cushing and the Fourth of July Committee.

MacDonald called for a vote, announcing that he would vote in favor of the permit, seeing as the applicant had made a concerted effort to provide for the safety and welfare of the people. Fellow members Neil Buckley and Lou Farkas both voted in favor of the permit.

Rep. Beckwith's office hours

State Representative Geoffrey C. Beckwith, who represents Reading, North Reading and Wilmington's precinct 3 in the Massachusetts House, this week announced the schedule for his June district office hours.

"A state representative must be accessible to everyone in his or her district," said Beckwith, who holds regular office hours each month in order to make it easier for constituents to meet with him whenever they have a question or problem concerning state government.

Beckwith will hold June office hours at two locations: on Thursday evening, June 5 he will be in the hearing room of the North Reading Town Hall from 5:30 to 7 p.m.; and on Thursday evening, June 5 he will be in the meeting room of the Reading Public Library on Middlesex Avenue from 7:30 to 9 p.m.

Beckwith reports that many people are contacting him both at home and at his state house office with inquiries regarding legislation, and with suggestions on a variety of issues.

"Interested citizens should never hesitate to call or write me any time," said Beckwith, who invited residents to get in touch with him either at his Boston office (State House, Room 236, Boston, MA 02113, 722-2430), or at his home (218 High St., Reading, MA 01867 944-5030). "But these office hours will provide everyone with an additional opportunity to see me personally and offer input, ask for information, or request assistance with a problem regarding state government."

A farewell roast was held at the Wilmington Congregational Church on Friday night for the Rev. Bill Murdoch, who is leaving Wilmington to become an Episcopal priest, with a church in Hamilton. Senior Deacon Eugene Trout had quite a bit of fun, threatening to douse the minister with a cup of water -- but Rev. Murdoch was ready with an umbrella.

Rev. Murdoch got the old one-two, with a cake in the face followed by whipped cream. The men of the church did give him the courtesy of a plastic cover to protect his clothes.

Demonstrating that the whole affair was in good taste and good fun, Rev. Murdoch licks some cake and whipped cream off his finger.

"NOBODY DOES IT BETTER"

Altman on the role of the fincom

by Arlene Surprenant

Following an article in last week's Town Crier on the role of Wilmington's Finance Committee, member Dennis Volpe said last Thursday he had received a communication last year from Town Counsel, Alan Altman, dated February 20, 1985 on what Fincom's role should be.

As last year's Fincom chairman, Volpe said, he had been concerned that his committee would be making recommendations on zoning articles before the Planning Board held its private hearing. Because of this concern, he said, he wrote Altman and asked what would be the proper route to follow under Wilmington bylaws.

Altman "left the option open," remembers Volpe. In the February letter, Altman stated "it is quite clear that in 1910 when the Legislature mandated that each town have a finance committee established in accordance with G.L. c.39.s.16, it intended that the finance committee would have broad authority in making reports and recommendations to a town meeting."

Later in the letter, Altman went on to recommend that Fincom members employ "a standard of direct impact on town finances."

"This standard," wrote Altman, "should be broad enough to encompass finance committee report and recommendations on articles which involve 'transfer, raising and appropriation of monies,' but not an overly broad interpretation so that zoning articles would be excluded from the finance committee's report and recommendations."

Of charges that Fincom was "dictating" to the Town Manager at April's town meeting, Volpe said, "it's unfortunate that no selectmen took the time to come to any of our budget meetings in the last two years." Budget deliberations traditionally begin in January and take place Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday nights up to town meeting, he added.

Ken Ferrari graduates

Ken Ferrari, son of Steve and Elaine Ferrari, 7 Gandalf Way, Wilmington, graduated from Arlington Catholic High School on May 25. While attending A.C. he was a member of the football and basketball teams for four years. He was captain of the basketball team in his senior year. In football he was voted to the All-Star team and won the award of most valuable player in his league.

In his junior year he was selected to be a member of "Who's Who for American High School Students." Ken will be attending Westfield State College in the fall majoring in business administration.

Frankly speaking

by Kevin John Sowyrda

Wilmington has come a long way in the past year. We have seen the completion of the Buzzell Multi-Purpose Senior Citizen Center, as well as the renovation project at the local high school. With both of these major efforts basically completed, the thoughts of many people in the community are now focussed on the need for a town youth center.

This is where we introduce Ruth Marranzini. Ruth has been convinced for quite a while, that Wilmington has not provided a place for its youth; where they can participate in both structured programming and leisure activities. In turn, she is presently organizing an effort to raise the necessary funds for the development of the Wilmington Youth Center. When asked why the community should need a youth center, Ruth gets right to the point; "Kids need a place to be, without being shuffled from parking lot to parking lot."

When you give that statement some thought, it rather quickly puts this issue into perspective. We've all driven past various sections in town that seem to attract a group of kids with some time on their hands; and more often than not it is a parking lot, adjacent to or behind some building where a coke or pepsi may be sold. In any event, how glamorous can an area of hot top or concrete be to your average youngster? Congregating in these areas is a public sign that there just is no other place for them to go. The days of 'Leave it to Beaver' and heading down to the local malt shop are over. Wilmington doesn't even have a malt shop. That is, unless you count Friendly's at Wilmington Plaza. Of course, how many fribbles can a kid consume? In any event, there really isn't much cultural or developmental value to sitting around and drinking soft ice cream.

Subsequently, there are a lot of people in Wilmington who are now working to change all this through the creation of a Wilmington Youth Center. As Ruth Marranzini puts it, "Let's invest now instead of paying later".

Wilmington is a community which supports both our elderly and the youth. In turn, we can anticipate a lot of attention being given to the establishment of a youth center. Though there are many kids involved in organized athletic programs in town, there are also many who for some reason or other are not attracted to sports. These youngsters would benefit particularly from the Wilmington Youth Center, which can give them a constructive and safe way to spend their free time; and free time can often be a dangerous commodity for an adolescent. Overall, the centers goal, according to Ruth Marranzini, will be to provide a place that any kid in town can call their own. A special point to note is that Ruth is planning for a center which can be manned by a permanent staff.

The most overwhelming aspect of all this is, as you might expect, the financial picture. Though Ruth has already received some great support, she has also been reminded of the considerable some of money that would have to be raised for this project. Yet, this has not discouraged her one bit. Throughout the summer months, we will see the organization of the Wilmington Youth Team, which will be comprised of people in the community who can contribute their time and creative ideas to the fund raising efforts, due to be kicked off in the fall.

Ruth has already met with the Board of Selectmen, and has obtained use of the Town Common for an 'Awareness Rally' to be held on June 15, from two to five in the afternoon. The event will feature guest speakers as well as the "Away" band, which is itself made up of youngsters, appropriately so. All of this will kick off the efforts to make the concept of the Wilmington Youth Center a reality. At this time the Youth Center Team will kick off the campaign with their slogan and theme, "Together We Can Build a Youth Center!". That sounds mighty good to me. See you all on the 15th.

Ryan Nickerson fell in love with a motorcycle helmet at the Wilmington Town Park. He accompanied his father, Joe Nickerson, to the Tom Aprile Softball Tournament on Sunday afternoon. Joe, who grew up on Woburn Street in Wilmington, was in the Class of 1974. He now lives in Londonderry, N.H.

The June 1, 1961 edition of the Town Crier of Wilmington noted that:

June 10 was proclaimed Work Day at Camp Forty Acres. Among other changes there was to be a telephone at the camp with both Reading Light and New England Telephone making substantial contributions of materials to the new service which was to be for emergency purposes only and would be active for six months of the year.

Roger Luken of Carolyn Road was awarded a $4000 scholarship to Vanderbilt University in Tennessee. He was also offered a $3600 scholarship to the University of Virginia which he had to turn down because Vanderbilt had better facilities for the study of astronomy which Roger wanted to pursue.

Dr. Henry Hill, vice president of National Poly Chemical on Eames Street (now Olin) was elected president of the Riverside Research Laboratories Inc.

Dr. Howard Payne, Middlesex County Sanatorium superintendent, confirmed the rumors that the North Reading Sanatorium was to be closed and remaining patients transferred to Waltham Hospital.

Harriman Tannery land value doubled in the past 10 years. It sold for about $22,000 in 1952 and according to tax stamps on the deed was purchased for $50,000 in 1961. The new owner was listed as Wilmington Development Co. Waltham Door and Window was building a plant on the site.

The First National Store was advertising peppers at 19 cents a pound; cantalopes for 39 cents and four pounds of oranges for 59 cents.

Dear Larz:

Recently in the Lowell Sun it stated that the School Committee would like to make the Drug/Alcohol Policy easier on first offenders. Being suspended for eight days along with being banned from all extracurricular activities for the remainder of the school year is just a little harsh. Restrictions like that should be used for regular offenders, but not for first offenders. The policy should be revised to be lighter on the first offenders because the rules now are quite extreme.

Most of the students at the high school are "good" kids and deserve to be treated and thought of in that way. But as everyone knows, with the good comes the bad; it's a fact, face it. At WHS the "good" kids are the majority and the student body in general should be recognized that way.

The high school and everything in association with it seem to be the topic of a lot of talk and writings, most of which talk about the wrongs rather than the rights at the high school. The students should be congratulated rather than condemned for their actions in general. Leave the kids at WHS alone for a while, they deserve it.

Sincerely,
Dorice Reichel

Dear Larz:

With regard to the front page article in the May 21 Town Crier, I find it hard to understand why the selectmen's new chairman, Rocco DePasquale, is so concerned over the occasional reluctance of the finance committee to endorse the town manager's budget recommendations.

The concern seems to go beyond the differences which arose between the selectmen and fincom at the last town meeting. I don't know exactly what Town Counsel Altman will turn up in the area of fincom legal duties and functions, but I feel certain that these go well beyond that of a "watchdog" board.

I must be misreading Rocco's intentions when he spoke out on this matter, but it seems as though he expects the fincom to "rubber stamp" the town manager's proposals. This would set a dangerous precedent.

As a member of the fincom, I feel strongly that this board must remain free of dominance by the selectmen, town manager or any other board or influence group. When the fincom functions in its full capacity as advisor to the voters of Wilmington, the town as a whole benefits, even if our recommendations - and that's what they are, we "dictate" to no one - are at odds with other boards.

A vital part of our advisory role involves careful analysis of all fiscal matters, and our recommendations in these areas obviously have some weight with the voters. Isn't it healthier to debate differences openly and let the voter decide? Or are we better off if the selectmen have all the influence? If the fincom can't rebut, why should the voters? Why have town meetings?

Roco and those selectmen who agree with him on this may feel that the fincom is dominated by one or two strong-willed members, who impose their wishes on the others. If the selectmen were interested enough in the evolution of fincom policy to have attended even one of our many budget meetings - where we would, as with all voters, welcome their input - they would have found out that many key items were resolved only after extensive discussion and debate, and not by one person.

My own admittedly biased opinion is that the fincom makes letters to the editor

recommendations based on our best current judgement of benefit to the town as a whole, and we are reluctant to play politics. During my stay on this board, I have seen its members grow in their understanding of the budget process, especially as affected by Prop 2 1/2. We have occasionally been victimized in past town meetings by some of the grandstanding and politicking, but we have learned. We have steadily learned how best to present our interpretation of the voters' will.

The fincom now has a good mix of new and experienced members, all very dedicated. The process by which this board is staffed, and by which it derives its authority to function independently is working very well now. Wilmington stands to lose something if this process is tampered with.

Most sincerely,
Jim Carroll

Dear Larz:

On May 15 I was horrified to observe a pack of dogs attack and mutilate a caged pet rabbit. While the dogs were chased away, the rabbit had to be destroyed. My anger is not with the dogs who were following some dormant hunting instinct, but with the owners who repeatedly ignore the leash laws, common sense and their responsibility to their pets and their neighbors.

Perhaps they feel they are giving their animals needed exercise and freedom, but I suspect it is merely that they are too lazy to walk or run with them and supervise their activities. Maybe the cute puppy they got years ago turned out to be bigger and more work than originally planned, but this is not an acceptable excuse for allowing the same dogs, day after day, to run loose, form dangerous packs and terrorize children and pets in a neighborhood.

A special thanks to both the Wilmington dog officer and police department who handled the incident with compassion for the people and animals involved.

Dear Larz:

For 11 years the Intermediate Ski Club has been providing instructional programs and enrichment opportunities to the children of the North Intermediate, the West Intermediate, and the High School. Approximately 1,700, students have enjoyed themselves while participating on one, or more of these trips.

Throughout the entire history of this program there was one, we repeat one, individual caught in possession of marijuana. There was never anyone at anytime accused of, nor admitting to, the use of any marijuana. Last winter's Canadian ski trip had 36 boys and girls enjoying themselves in a foreign country, while behaving as fine representatives of our country and our town. Except for the indiscretion (the drinking of from one sip to two cans of beer) by five boys and two girls, we were proud of each participant in that trip, and of all the past trips. The violators of the Drug/Alcohol Policy were turned over to the proper school authorities to deal with under the guidelines they had established.

A recent letter to the editor stated some incorrect information regarding that incident. It stated, "...the young man was arrested in Canada with illegal drugs in his possession and six of his friends for participating in the use of illegal drugs. Just a few beers, just a joint or two, they didn't mean any harm..." The correct information is that no one was arrested, no one was participating in the use of any drug, no one had more than two beers, and no one used "just a joint or two."

Rather than exaggerate and misrepresent the negative, let's accentuate the positive. Compliments go to all the Intermediate Ski Club participants over the years who enjoyed themselves while adhering to the guidelines of the club's and school department's rules.

If there have been problems with the Drug/Alcohol Policy in the past let's adapt that policy to more effectively meet the needs of our students.

Sincerely,
Frank Birmingham

Dear Larz:

Eleven years ago when my family and I moved from the city we came to Wilmington to buy a house and we ended up adopting a community. There is a friendly and caring feeling that extends from our neighborhood, to the schools, to the various organizations, and throughout the town.

This was never felt more than on May 9, when Wilmington chose me as its Good Guy for 1986.

Working with the various groups that I am affiliated with, has been my honor. Besides being able to help others, I've met many wonderful people who care about the youth and handicapped of our community.

I want to thank all of these people for helping to make my night so special. A special thank you to Mike Cairn who, as M.C. for the evening, kept us entertained by helping us to laugh at each other - some more than others.

Thank you again for including me in a group of "Good Guys" who care so much about this Town and the people in it.

Sincerely,
Judy M. DiPalma

Dear Larz:

In regards to the Wilmington special town meeting being held on June 9 to take 53 acres of land by eminent domain for millions of dollars, many people will appreciate this composition:

Have you heard that this town,
Wants to buy by eminent domain,
Some dirt and some trees.
Well, this is insane.

This buying will only benefit just one,
Mr. DeCarolis will make millions,
Plus some,
With our money he can take a world-wide cruise,
The bottom line is, either way he can't lose.

Each time you pay your taxes, be reminded of this,
Each dollar we give will be going to Mr. DeCarolis.

With all our money, this town would blow,
All I can say, Mr. DeCarolis, I wish you well, and "Bona Appetito"

Signed,
Just one person who helped Mr. DeCarolis make his millions

Wilmington discusses housing

by Arlene Surprenant
Wilmington has "one of the lowest percentages of low to moderate income homes in the state," according to Metropolitan Area Planning Council representative Jay Donovan. Wilmington has 2.5 percent, said Donovan in an interview last week, a figure well below the 10 percent mark set by the state, making it possible for a developer to bypass town meeting to obtain a comprehensive permit for state funded housing.

The conversation with the Town Crier derived from an attempt by the Investors Management Group (IMG) to locate 204 apartment units, 20 percent of which would be slated for low to moderate income families, off Ballardvale Street. IMG is seeking to help fund the development either through the state's TELLER program, in conjunction with the Wilmington Housing Authority (WHA), or another route.

As Wilmington's MAPC rep, Donovan has worked with developers on the TELLER program in Lawrence. The state program was set up to provide a way for developers to obtain funding "without having the housing authority pledge full faith and credit," he said.

The state, Donovan explained, tries to balance out the need for housing with the needs of the community and it is not certain the state will go along with the developer in all cases.

If the town denies a comprehensive permit, he added, the developer can go to the state board of appeals where the request will be reviewed for approximately two to four weeks. During the review, the board would determine if the project meets the housing needs and whether it "seriously disrupts" the community's housing needs. At the same time, Donovan pointed out, the state can invoke Executive Order 215 to stop funding to the town. As an example, said Donovan, Methuen is presently under that order and hasn't been able to obtain "any development related funds" for the past few years.

Given the large number of units proposed and the fact that they're apartments, Donovan said, it is his feeling that the scope of the project may be "inconsistent" with housing in Wilmington. He feels if the proposal included less units and condominiums rather than apartments, the proposal might be given more consideration at the state level and fit in more with "the concept of home ownership."

Neighbors in the Arlene Avenue area, which may be directly affected if an access road is opened onto their street, hope to hold a meeting to exchange information, discuss strategy, and "closely monitor" the situation. According to one of the neighbors, who wished to remain in the background at this time, "this massive proposal will affect the entire town of Wilmington, not just one neighborhood, and the effect could be detrimental to the town."

WHA Executive Director Lillian Buckley had requested a meeting with selectmen on the impending decision, selectmen will not be meeting with the WHA board on the advice of Town Counsel Alan Altman. Some WHA members are not happy with this decision. One of the best routes to follow, suggested Buckley, might be to come up with another option to meet the town's housing need. "We'd like to have a cooperative effort with the town in looking for some kind of alternative plan to meet the town's housing needs," Buckley told the Town Crier last week.

Selectmen, for their part, agreed at their last meeting to present a united front and not discuss the issue publicly at this time. They also took under advisement a case in the town of Burlington over a similar issue. The case outlines the plans of developer Pheasant Ridge Associates to build a 202 unit apartment complex on 14.5 acres off the town common under the state's TELLER program. In that instance, the town voted to take the land by eminent domain.

Selectmen expect to meet in the near future to study the case and hold an executive session for the purpose of discussing strategy and any potential litigation which may arise in their own action relating to the IMG project.

Superintendent Wolk announces retirement

by Arlene Surprenant
Shawsheen Tech Superintendent/Director Benjamin Wolk took school committee members by surprise Tuesday night as he announced his retirement from the position he has held since the school's beginning 16 years ago. According to a handwritten note turned over to his secretary that night, Wolk will remain at his post until August 1.

"I was speechless; we all were," said committeeman Kevin Sowyrda of Wolk's decision. Though he, along with the majority of committee members, felt the school needed new blood, something reflected in a recent evaluation of the superintendent, Sowyrda was quick to compliment Wolk's "wise decision" and "wish him the very best."

In the weeks ahead, plans will go forward for a special retirement celebration for Wolk, who has always been looked on as the school's biggest booster. Also, committee members will put their "utmost effort" into finding a replacement who will meet all the needs of the Tech. According to Sowyrda, they will seek a "strong leader" whose priorities include pushing for a good budget and addressing the school's academic needs.

SUNBURN PREVENTION

Suntan and sunscreen products have been developed to promote tanning without sunburn, and to protect those who sunburn easily.

Sunscreens absorb UV light and prevent sunburn. A means of measuring the protection of sunscreens is the SUN PROTECTION FACTOR (SPF). An SPF of 2 offers minimal protection and is used for tanning purposes. SPF's of 4-8 offer moderate protection with limited tanning. SPF's of 8 - 15 give maximum protection with limited or no tanning.

Persons with "normal" skin need less than 30 minutes of sunlight exposure to produce a slight sunburn. To develop a suntan and prevent burning, gradually increase exposure to sunlight while using an appropriate sunscreen for your type skin. As tanning intensifies, the SPF can be reduced and the time of exposure increased. Remember that sunburn can occur during cloudy or overcast weather conditions and the sand is a reflector of sunlight and can increase the chance of a bad burn. Swimming and perspiration remove significant amounts of applied sunscreens, call for liberal reapplication.

If you have questions about sunscreens, or the treatment of that nasty sunburn, come into LYMAN'S VILLAGE APOTHECARY and our pharmacists will be happy to recommend the best product for your type skin.

The tale of Jimmy Hale

copyright 1986

by Capt. Larz Neilson

Over 70 years ago the writer was a little boy, living in the cement block house on Glen Road, and near Silver Lake in Wilmington. His father was a mason-contractor. Every morning, during the work week, employees, two to four in number, would arrive and stay in back, talking while awaiting their ride to whatever place the work of the day was to be done.

They were mostly young fellows, casual employees. Some, however, worked for Peter Neilson for years. The writer was in a position of over hearing their morning conversation, whether or not he wanted to.

On some mornings the conversation would be about the drinking that had gone on the night before. It was thus the writer first heard of Jimmy Hale.

"Boy, was I drunk last night!" someone would say. "I was almost as drunk as Jimmy Hale."

The writer's mother could offer no information as to who Jimmy Hale was. So, a trip next door, to the big house next to Silver Lake was in order, and questions were asked of Emma Caswell.

Her husband, Horace, had come down from New Brunswick about 1870 and had something to do with the cutting of ice on Silver Lake, which was then called Sandy Pond. Horace, about 1910, when he was retired, built an ice cream stand at the end of the then new streetcar line, and that was his last employment. Today that ice cream stand is a radio and television store.

Emma was the daughter of the lady who had a boarding house in what is now the MacDougall home, on Church Street. Some of the men who worked in the two Bond bakeries boarded at the Marshall home.

Emma, a very nice person, was thus in a position to tell much about Wilmington events, since before the Civil War.

"We don't talk about Jimmy Hale!" she told the little boy from next door.

In later years, after World War II was over, the writer was again in Wilmington. More tales were picked up about Jimmy Hale. The tales may or may not have been true. There was no real way to check.

One, dating back to the 1870s, was how Jimmy Hale would go to Woburn on Saturday nights to do some real two fisted drinking. Wilmington had a sort of local option license in those days. There was a town liquor store, where the Nichols Funeral Home is today. There a resident could buy limited amounts of alcoholic beverages.

Another place to buy liquor was at the home of Billy Ames. Billy lived in the house in the westerly corner of Middlesex Avenue and Clark Street. Apparently he was very discrete in his sales, for there were never any tales this writer has heard of Billy being closed down by local authorities.

There is no doubt that Jimmy went to Woburn on Saturday nights. He was unable to buy as much as he wanted in Wilmington.

Jimmy lived at that time up on Hopkins Street, in a ramshackle house that was torn down about 1965. From there to Woburn was about five miles. That was the usual Saturday evening trip for Jimmy.

By Sunday morning (sometime after midnight) Jimmy would be in the back of the wagon, fast asleep as the horse plodded his way home.

That was the tale.

There was more to it. Mary Ann McIntosh and her family lived in an old home on Main Street. Her husband was Capt. George. Before the Civil War he had commanded sailing ships, and had settled in New Orleans, to run a stevedoring operation. Several of the children of the family were born in that city.

Capt. George was at sea, it is to be believed, when the Civil War started. Mary Ann and the children were in New Orleans, which had become a Confederate city.

It took a couple of years, but the Federal forces finally cleared out the Confederates in New Orleans, in Vicksburg, and in the area in between. President Lincoln was able to say that the "Father of Waters now flows unvexed to the sea."

Mary Ann McIntosh took her children and sailed up the Mississippi to Illinois. From there she went across country by train, to Wilmington, where Capt. George McIntosh had bought property many years before. Mary Ann carried a pistol, in the bosom of her dress, to protect herself and her children during that journey.

The writer never saw Mary Ann McIntosh. His father would sometimes stop his truck and go in to say hello, but the little boy was left to sit outside and wait.

There is a story about Mary Ann McIntosh and Jimmy Hale which is a part of Wilmington lore. Members of the family have disagreed with it, one way or another, but the writer did hear it from several sources.

Mary Ann, about two o'clock on a Sunday morning, would hear the clop clop of Jimmy's horse, as it made its way up Main Street from Woburn. The horse would be heard after it passed Butters Row.

She would get up, throw a robe over her nightgown, and then go out and stop the horse and wagon. The horse would be taken into the yard. Jimmy Hale would be snoring away, in the back of the wagon.

Mary Ann would feed the horse and let it rest a while. Then she would back the horse out onto the street and head it up Main Street. She would slap it on the rump. Eventually the horse would arrive at Jimmy's home on Hopkins Street.

So the tale goes. But there was one more item.

Before she backed the horse out onto the street she would always reach in back where Jimmy had a bottle stashed away. That bottle Mary Ann would empty.

Emma Marshall, she who, 70 years ago was Emma Caswell, as a little girl lived near the Bond bakeries of Wilmington. Her mother, who was probably named Lucy, lived in what is now the MacDougall home on Middlesex Avenue. She had a boarding house for Bond bakery employees, the two bakeries being practically across the street.

How many persons Lucy Marshall boarded is unknown. It could have been one or two. It could have been a dozen.

There was a bakery in the field across from Glen Road. It was built in 1798, and burned down in 1864. The stone foundations are still to be seen.

Sparks from the fire were blown across the street and lodged in the steeple of the Congregational Church. As a consequence the church too, was burned.

There was a second bakery, about where the Baptist Church is located today. That bakery was destroyed by fire in the 1870s. Daniel Kelley possibly purchased the site, after the fire. He was a baker, a man who had left Ireland with his family during the potato famine and had settled in Wilmington during the 1850s.

The home became the home of James Kelley, for many years Town Clerk of Wilmington. About 1909 Jim Kelley employed Peter Neilson, mason, for some work, work which included destroying some old brickwork. Peter believed that what he destroyed was a part of the old bakery.

The Bond family, which owned the bakeries, was descended from Capt. Joseph and Mary Bond. He was a captain in the Continental Army during the Revolution. He was also a baker. The family moved to Wilmington about 1790, and lived in what is now the parsonage for the Congregational Church at the corner of Wildwood Street.

Captain Bond baked crackers. They were hard, white, and about five inches in diameter. They were sold "all over New England" as the saying was, many years ago. The Bond bakeries had small one horse express wagons, with brilliant red wheels, from which the crackers were sold. If the crackers were kept dry they could last a long time. A family could purchase a year's supply, when one of those red wheeled wagons came to call.

It seems there were no more Bond bakeries after the second fire. At the same time it must be said there was no connection between the Bond family of Wilmington and the present Bond bread of today's New England. The Continental Bakeries of Chicago may possibly be descended from the Bond bakeries of Wilmington.

The house on Middlesex Avenue across from the Rectory of St. Thomas Church is an old Bond house, date of construction uncertain. The late Edward C. Manning, who owned it about 35 years ago said the bond crackers had been baked in that house.

The Rectory of St. Thomas is sited on the site of the former Thomas Bond house. It is not to be believed that any of the former house structure is now a part of the Rectory.

The big house at the head of the common was, for a time, the home of Joseph Bond, prior to its purchase about 1884 by Thomas McMahon.

The home of Larry and Jean Doucette, at the corner of Middlesex Avenue and Salem Street was the home of Arthur T. Bond in the 1880s. He seems to have been the last Bond to live in Wilmington. He was in the advertising business.

Arthur T. Bond wrote a history of Wilmington, sometime about 1900. He and others tried to get the town meeting in 1906 to appropriate $1500 to print a history of the town but, the story is, the appropriation failed by six votes. That manuscript history, 40 or more years ago was in the hands of a niece of Arthur Bond, who was an attorney and who lived in New York City.

Arthur moved to Wellesley sometime after 1905.

Groundbreaking held for new traffic lights

Hailing it as a prime example of the state responding quickly to a local need, MDWPW Associate Commissioner Ken Kruckemeyer has officially kicked off a project to install traffic signals at sites in Wilmington and Tewksbury. Stae Representative James R. Miceli (D-Wilmington), a key proponent of the project, and local officials joined Kruckemeyer at separate groundbreaking ceremonies in both towns.

"This is state government at its best: responding to a call for assistance," Kruckemeyer said. "The design of these two intersections demonstrates exactly when we created the Traffic Operations Problem Solving (TOPS) team is a group of design engineers assembled within MDPW to quickly address identifiable safety problems on major local roads."

Subsequent to a Miceli-sponsored bill in 1984 calling for the project, MDPW assigned the Wilmington/Tewksbury job to its newly formed TOPS team in early 1985. State Senator Patricia McGovern (D-Lawrence) also urged the project be scheduled quickly. A construction contract was awarded last fall to the Woburn-based Tro-Con Corporation, Inc. It submitted a low bid of $290,000, which will be paid for entirely by state funds.

The Wilmington intersection of Middlesex Avenue (Route 62) at Federal Street will get a full set of signals replacing the existing flashing light. In Tewksbury, there is no existing signal at the other designated site: Andover Street (Route 133) and North Street.

Impact on traffic during construction should be minimal. Both jobs should be completed and the signals in full operation by fall.

At
Hill

On hand for the groundbreaking for new traffic signals at Federal Hill in Wilmington were Ken Kruckemeyer, assistant director of the Mass. Dept. of Public Works, Rocco DePasquale, chairman of the Wilmington Board of Selectmen, State Rep. Jim Miceli, Tom Gordon, resident engineer for the DPW, Charles Troisi of Trocon Construction, and Town Manager Buzz Stapeczynski.

Antique Wheels Festival

The Lowell Historic Preservation Commission is making plans now for its 1986 Antique Wheels Festival, and is inviting the participation of all area persons interested in showing vehicles of years gone by.

Scheduled for Sunday, June 29, at the Market Mills Complex in downtown Lowell between the hours of noon at 5 p.m., this year's festival will feature entries from the Mystic Valley Railway Society and the South Shore Model Railway Club, as well as a large display of World War I and II military carriers, and antique autos, bicycles and jitneys of all descriptions.

Participants and spectators will be treated to rides through the Park area aboard the turn-of-the-century trolleys, and will enjoy the lively sounds of the newly formed Heritage Jazz Band followed later in the afternoon by the close harmony of the award-winning group, "Gentlemen Songsters."

Free and open to the public, Antique Wheels Festival promises fun and entertainment for the entire family.

Anyone wishing to enter vehicles for display may call Ruth Meehan, LHPC events and public affairs co-ordinator at (617) 458-7653.

TAXES AND YOUR HOUSEHOLD HELP

Here's another tax you should be paying that you've probably never thought of: social security coverage for any employee that you pay as much as $50 a quarter. If cleaning ladies, gardeners, even babysitters work for you on anything like a steady basis, it doesn't take long to reach that figure.

You are required to send in 14.3 percent of wages, which covers both the employer's and the employee's social security tax. You may deduct half of this from the worker's pay, but many people choose to pay the entire thing themselves.

The tax is due quarterly, and should be sent with a completed 942, the Employer's Quarterly Return for Household Employees. You also have to prepare a W-2 Wage and Tax Statement; one copy goes to the government, the others to the worker.

One way out of this requirement: hire workers from an agency or independent contractor which serves as their actual employer.

Reading
volunteers

Certificates of appreciation were presented to Dian DeFrancesco and Lynn Gordon by Reading Specialist Harriet Given, coordinator of the Tutor Program.

Reading volunteer tutors honored

by Arlene Surprenant
"You do make a difference," Reading Specialist Harriet Given told the four volunteer reading tutors before her as she read aloud from thank you cards created by their respective students.

Diane DeFrancesco, 12 year veteran Ruth Filipowicz, Donna Florence, and Lynn Gordon along with Judy Austin, who couldn't make the reception held in their honor, have all volunteered their services as elementary tutors for a number of years. In turn, the Wilmington School system showed its appreciation with a reception at the Shawsheen School last Wednesday where each lady received a pink carnation and a certificate of appreciation for "fine and valuable reading tutor service."

Assistant Superintendent Henry Dembowski, who was on hand to award the certificates, told the tutors "as you well know, the public schools can really only benefit from public support and I can't think of a better way to do it than by volunteering."

Brenda Squire, Director of Reading and Language Arts, praised the women for giving so freely of their time, especially in an age when so many women work and don't have the time to give of their talents.

Also present for the proceedings were elementary principals Robert Barrett (Shawsheen School), Mary Driscoll (Wildwood School), and Dolores Silva (Woburn Street School).

The Reading tutoring program began in the early 1970's as part of the Right to Read program. At that time, said Given, Brenda Squire was asked to train an initial 20 volunteers.

According to Given, under whose guidance the whole program is pulled together, a recruiting program is run each fall. Volunteers then go through a six week training session and are placed with one or two students upon completion. Activities are suggested in newsletters and by teachers to help tutors reinforce such skills as vocabulary, comprehension, and phonetics.

Tutors volunteer a recommended two hours a week, says Given and, because they are flexible, they can work out their own schedule with the student's teacher.

Because of the primarily one on one support given through the program, says Given, "we think we have a good success rate." She is hasty to add that all the tutors are "so dedicated and cooperative and valuable that I can't say enough about them."

We are hoping to have Linda Vassil of the Tewksbury Garden Club as our guest speaker at the C.O.A. health and exercise program on Monday, June 22. This program is held each Monday morning at the Lowell Boys Club and transportation is available to Tewksbury senior citizens from the Senior Center at 9:30 a.m.

Other speakers scheduled for this program during June include Dr. Tina Horowitz, an arthritis specialist, June 9; and Jack Buckley and Frank Botta from the Lowell Tax Office speaking on recent tax changes, June 23.

Barbara Campbell, RN, will conduct blood sugar tests Wednesday, June 4 from 11 to 11:30 a.m. This testing is for those having diabetes and is meant to monitor their condition. Blood pressure readings will be taken from 11:30 a.m. to 1

Those traveling to Yokums on June 10 are reminded that payment is due for this trip by June 6. There are just a few seats available.

Summer bowling will start Tuesday morning June 3 at 10 at the Brunswick Lanes, Route 3A, Burlington. No attendance records are kept, so come when you can. Averages are not maintained or posted. The bowlers meet for a good time and good exercise. They welcome all senior citizens and encourage them to take a friend.

As previously mentioned there are several golfers looking for people to join them in a weekly activity. The Wednesday morning activity would cost $5.00 for nine holes and golfers would car pool over to Chelmsford. If interested contact the coordinator.

Beano and whist will be played at the Senior Center on the second Tuesday of the month, June 14 at 1:30 p.m. Please be sure to make note of this change. All are welcome.

There is a group traveling to Rockingham Park Tuesday, July 22 for a light luncheon and an afternoon at the races. If interested call the Senior Center at 851-5949.

Balances for the lobster cruise on the Spirit of Boston scheduled for August 4 are due the end of June. At present there are three buses filled. Therefore, we have started a waiting list.

Down payments are now due for the Tom Jones performance which will be held Tuesday, August 19. The trip is $35.00 per person and includes transportation and tickets.

Seniors are reminded that the "Smile a Mile" walkers meet at the Senior Center each weekday at 9 a.m. sharp.

Scenic Roads

Scenic Roads Are Disappearing. . .

The Massachusetts landscape has changed drastically in our lifetime. Tree-lined, winding country roads, bounded by historic stone walls have become harder to find. Scenic roads are rapidly disappearing due to road upgrading and other road-related construction that removes or destroys the elements that give country roads their special character.

But There Is a Way to Save Them

Local communities can preserve scenic roads and the scenic, historic, environmental, agricultural, and economic values they represent. A little-known and brief law, the Scenic Roads Act of 1973, gives towns the power to protect the scenic qualities of local roads.

What the Scenic Roads Act Says

The law gives local planning boards, conservation commissions, or historical commissions the opportunity to designate any non-numbered road in their city or town as a scenic road. Once a road is designated as a scenic road, any proposed repairs or changes that threaten trees or stone walls along that road may not be carried out without the written approval of the city council, selectmen, or planning board after a public hearing. In addition, by designating a scenic road, a city or town does not disqualify itself from being eligible to receive funds from the State for construction or reconstruction work on that road.

Your road can be protected, too

If you live on a scenic road and would like to add yours to the list, come to the Special Town Meeting, Monday, June 9th and vote Yes to Article 3.

Health center renovations

Michele Visconti, MPH, (right) associate director of the Regional Health Center in Wilmington views the progress made in the renovation of the health center's lower level. Joining her are, from left, Dick Fudge of D&D Lock and Arlene Burpee of AAJ Travel, co-chairmen of the Leadership Gifts Committee.

Renovations completed

The Regional Health Center in Wilmington (RHCW) has announced the completion of its building renovation program.

Sixteen thousand square feet of "shelled space" on the lower level has been renovated for expanded occupational health, rehabilitation, and ophthalmology services. The move opens up more space on the main level for internal medicine, the pediatric/adolescent unit, and other specialties.

To mark the project's completion, the RHCW is hosting an open house on Thursday, June 5, beginning at 5 p.m. Members of the community are welcome to attend dedication ceremonies at the Health Center, to be followed by guided tours of the new lower level, demonstrations of health care equipment, and refreshments.

In seven years since the Health Center opened, the number of individuals receiving treatment has grown steadily, with new programs and services added regularly to meet the needs of the community. To date, 82,000 individuals have come to the Salem Street facility, and in the past two years alone, the number of patient services has increased by 30 percent.

The RHCW's designation as a preferred provider for the Teamsters Union Local 25, and an affiliate of the Multi-Group Health Plan has and will continue to contribute to the unprecedented growth.

The Choate-Symmes Health Services Board of Trustees responded to this growth by endorsing Expansion '86 last September.

"Those earlier involved in the designing of the Health Center had the foresight to anticipate growth. The newly developed lower level shelled space will provide the additional space we now require—only seven years after we initially occupied the building," said Nicholas A. Balog, RHCW vice president and director.

Expansion '86's capital campaign helped fund the project, raising to date $281,000 toward the minimum goal of $300,000 from Choate-Symmes/RHCW employees, medical staff and trustees, local business and industry, and individuals.

At the June 5 open house, major donors will be honored by Choate-Symmes. Cornerstone benefactors will have an opportunity to place a special message in the lower level cornerstone. The cornerstone will be opened on Oct. 22, 2028, the 50th anniversary of the opening of RHCW. Cornerstone benefactors will also be listed on a special plaque in the lower level lobby.

Commemorative Gift donors will be listed on the central donors' plaque, also to be located in the lower level lobby.

With the completion of construction, the expanded Occupational Health Services area includes a larger waiting room and additional examination areas.

Rehabilitation Services (physical, occupational, speech therapy) will increase fourfold, adding a larger physical therapy gym and a separate whirlpool area. There will also be separate treatment areas for occupational and speech/language therapy.

The three rehabilitation disciplines will share a waiting-reception area, a staff charting area, and a secretarial work area.

Ophthalmology, one of the fastest growing services at RHCW, will expand from two to six examination rooms. David Gendelman, MD, who is completing a fellowship in retinal surgery at Massachusetts Eye and Ear Infirmary, and Deborah Zuckerman, MD, who is completing her residence training at Tufts/ New England Medical Center, will soon join the ophthalmology staff. Over the next year, Zuckerman will be completing a pediatric/ophthalmology fellowship at Mass. Eye and Ear.

As part of the Ophthalmology Services, an optician will also be available. Anyone interested is invited to attend the June 5 open house at 5 p.m. To RSVP, call 657-3910, ext. 559.

Wilmington Police News

For the second time within a month, a shooting took place in Wilmington. Saturday night a local woman, Linda Rinaldi, age 40, of 12 Sherbourne Place, is presently recovering at Mass. General Hospital, from a single gun shot wound through her left side.

James Paiva, 56, currently living at 37 Melrose Street, Cambridge was arrested following investigation of the incident which occurred at a friend's home on West Street at approximately 10:30 p.m. The suspect fled the scene before the arrival of officers. Det. Sgt. George Shepard and Insp. Mike McKenna arrested Paiva in Cambridge after obtaining an attempted murder warrant at Woburn District Court.

The original investigating officers were Sgt. Bill Gable, Officers Joe Waterhouse and Jon Shepard, Jim Cuoco; Chief Stewart and Deputy Chief Nally were called to the scene along with the Middlesex District Attorney's criminal investigators.

The suspect was arraigned in Woburn District Tuesday morning on multiple charges including attempted murder, assault with intent to murder, assault and battery by means of a dangerous weapon and unlicensed carrying of a firearm.

Judge Francis Cullen held Paiva on $100,000 surety bail or $10,000 cash. He was remanded to Cambridge jail in lieu of bail.

Tuesday afternoon Insp. Ritchie and Officer Jim Cuoco arrested Francis Motta, 19 David Road, Acton at the Ayer Court on the basis of a capias warrant issued by Woburn Court for defaulting on fine payments.

Saturday afternoon three youths were arrested by Officers Joe Waterhouse and Steve LaRivee on liquor related violations.

Two of the juveniles are to enter the department diversion program for first offenders. The diversion program, under the supervision of Juvenile Officer Bob Spencer is designed to divert first offenders in certain cases away from the court system into a more treatment oriented situation. Officer Spencer sets up a specific treatment program which a juvenile offender must successfully complete before all criminal charges can be disposed of.

Arthur MacCauley, 46 of County Road, Tewksbury was arrested Saturday morning shortly after one o'clock by Officers Frank Hancock and Jon Shepard. MacCauley was charged with operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of alcohol and operating a motor vehicle having defective equipment. He was arraigned Tuesday morning at Woburn Court where his case was continued to June 13 for further action.

Officers Larry Redding, Chris Neville and Steve LaRivee were part of the assault team that broke into the suspects home after a barrage of tear gas was fired into the house.

The Tactical Patrol force is an 80 man volunteer regional team composed of officers from 21 local police departments. A specialized team within the unit is specially trained for dealing with situations requiring assaults on buildings such as barricaded subjects or hostage situations. The assault team has recently been used in several drug raids where weapons were a concern to the departments involved.

Wildwood School

The Sons of Italy Hall will be the setting for a sixth grade pot luck buffet June 3 signaling students' entrance into junior high next September. Beginning at 6 p.m., a dinner of salad, casseroles, and dessert will be offered to students and their parents who, along with PAC members, provided the repast.

Following dinner, students will receive parting gifts from the PAC and then dance to the latest hits on a jukebox.

The entire Wildwood School staff will be recognized at a special luncheon June 4. The catered affair will also be hosted by the PAC.

Physical Education teacher, Carol Hayes, is in the process of organizing a school-wide field day June 10. Featured will be track and field events as well as a special teacher's race, with ribbons going to all winners. The school PAC will provide a lunch of hot dogs, hamburgers, cold drinks, chips and ice cream.

Every child in the school will receive recognition certificates in various areas at an Awards Day scheduled for June 12. Certificates will be given out during an assembly program in the school cafeteria.

Shawsheen School

The Shawsheen PAC wishes to thank Mr. Spumoni owners Mark DePasquale and Regina DePasquale for their help in setting up the school's ice cream smorgasbord a few weeks back.

Seventy-seven students and 17 chaperones will learn more about early New England sea life and shipping during a day long trip to Mystic Seaport in Connecticut June 6.

The trip, according to acting Principal, Doug Anderson, is a culminating social studies activity for a study on whaling. Students will visit the waterfront and have the option of going through the planetarium or taking a steamboat ride.

Students raised most of the funds themselves through a Student Council fundraiser and the cooperation of the school's PAC.

Election of PAC officers for the 1986-87 school year will take place at the group's last meeting June 6 at 9 a.m. All parents of students K through 6 are invited to attend and have a say in next year's leadership.

To celebrate moving up to junior high, sixth graders and their parents will enjoy a spaghetti dinner hosted by the school's PAC in the cafeteria June 9 from 6:30 to 9 p.m.

Along with the dinner, the program will include guest speakers, a glance back at the year courtesy of a slide show presentation by teacher, Dan Spriggs, and music by the school choral group. Also, 19 students will be singled out to receive Presidential Academic Fitness Award certificates and pins.

Woburn Street School

All kinds of talent will be on display at this Thursday's sixth grade talent show slated for 1:30 p.m. Sixth grade teacher Mrs. Merlino is coordinating the show with some able-bodied assistance from fellow instructors Mr. Maderia, Mr. Simmons, and Mr. Tildsley.

End of the year field trips include a June 2 trip to cheer on the Red Sox, a June 3 kindergarten trip to see the Wizard of Oz, a June 9 trip to the aquarium, and a sixth grade trip to Asbury Grove June 12.

West Intermediate

Lucky teachers at the Woburn Street School will be honored at an appreciation luncheon midday on June 10. This PAC sponsored activity is to say thank you for the teachers' dedication and hard work throughout the year, according to Principal Dolores Silva.

North Intermediate

Eighth graders from both intermediate schools will depart for a five day trip to Niagara Falls and Toronto on Monday, June 9 at 6 a.m. Highlights of this popular trip will include a sightseeing cruise of the Tornado waterfront, a guided tour of downtown Toronto, a visit to Canada's theme park "Wonderland," and a guided tour of the Niagara Gorge.

A special program featuring music and dance drew an attentive audience to the school Tuesday night. The audience was treated to a special presentation by the fifth and sixth grade chorus from the Woburn Street School and a performance by the Wilmington Public School's dance ensemble under the direction of Carolyn Toleczo.

Don't forget the upcoming musical review at the school on May 29 and 30.

An Honors Banquet to recognize any students who made the honor roll this year, plus deserving students in other categories, is slated for June 3rd at 6:30 p.m. in the school cafeteria. Students and their parents will be treated to a family style buffet after which certificates will be awarded.

End of the year field trips include a May 30th excursion for art students to Hammond Castle, a June 5th trip and cookout to Asbury Park in Hamilton, and a seventh grade trip to Canobie Lake June 10th.

Wilmington High School

Over $1200 was raised by the school's PAC at the April Scholarship Dance. The money will allow five scholarships to be awarded to deserving students this year.

Outstanding school athletes will be feted at an Athletic Awards Banquet at the West Intermediate School May 29. Dinner provided by Jean's caterers will begin at 6 p.m. and an awards ceremony to recognize those present, including recipients of MVP and Coaches Awards, will follow.

Elephants

A science fair project on elephants won a tie for third place in the Shawsheen School Science Fair for John O'Reilly (above) and Jack Sullivan.

Shawsheen School holds science fair

The Shawsheen School Annual Science/Social Studies Fair was held Thursday and Friday, May 8th and 9th in the school cafeteria.

Projects were exhibited by fifth and sixth grade students. The extensive preparation that they put into their research made the fair very competitive. The judges and many visitors and parents were impressed by the variety and the students ability to provide information and detail about their topics.

The 51 exhibits represented the work of 84 participants and all are to be commended for their effort and finework. The winners were:

Grade six

First place, The Solar System by Michael King, Derek Gray, Howard Gilhooly; second place, Canals by Jeffrey Gould; third place, Waterfalls by Michele Savoie and Laurie Graham.

Grade five

First place, Our Solar System by John Soule and Jeff Niestepski; second place, Crystals by Jenna Solari and Alyssa Georgelis; third place (tie) How Computers Benefit Hospitals by Alan Dellascio, Robert Whitebone and Jody Murray and Elephants by Jack Sullivan and John O'Reilly.

The early afternoon ceremony was performed by Justice of the Peace, Priscilla Lynch, at the V.F.W. Hall in Wilmington, which was adorned with flowers from the Flower Shop.

Kathleen Connor of Lynn, sister of the bride, served as matron of honor and Brad Taylor, cousin of the groom of China, Maine, served as best man.

Ushering duties were in charge of Michael Wood of Wilmington, brother of the bride and Bob Taylor of Saugus, friend of the groom.

The bride, given in marriage by her father was radiant in a traditional Victorian white gown featuring a long train. Her veil fell from a picture hat and she carried a mixed bouquet.

The matron of honor was attired in a full-length orchid gown featuring a pleated skirt. She carried a bouquet of mixed flowers.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Wood chose a blue dress with a pink corsage. The mother of the groom was attired in a beige dress with yellow flowers.

For traveling the new Mrs. Young chose a light blue silk dress.

Following a wedding trip to the Bahamas, the couple is now living on Cottage Street, Lynn.

The bride was educated at Wilmington High School and Middlesex Community College and is now employed by Abbott Electronics, Woburn.

Tewksbury man picked up on FBI warrant

by Bill Conlon
Sometimes the smallest things have the biggest consequences.
On Thursday, May 15, at 4 a.m.,

Wilmington police officer Steve Mauriello stopped a motorist for passing in a no-passing zone. As a matter of routine he ran a warrant check on the driver, which turned out nothing local. Referring to the National Crime Information Center

(NCIC) computer, the officer discovered that the man he had stopped was wanted on an FBI
warrant out of Richmond, Virginia.

Arrested at the scene was David
F. Crowell, Jr., 51 Mill St., Tewksbury, who was named on a warfare out of Richmond,
Virginia. The warrant charged
Crowell with a property crime on a government reservation. Agents from the Boston FBI office took Crowell into custody a few hours later, according to Wilmington police.

John Cloherty of the Boston FBI office said the warrant "charges Crowell with breaking and entering on a government reservation.
Crowell went before U.S.
Magistrate Joyce London
Alexander later that day and was released on $10,000 bail without surety, meaning no money had to be posted. Crowell was called before Judge Alexander on May 27 for a removal hearing, where he agreed to appear in Eastern District Court in Richmond on June 17 to try and clear up the charges, according to court clerk Mary Ann Valentino.

Academic excellence awards presented by school committee association

Jennifer Armstrong and Chris
Athanasia of Wilmington, Robert Dunlay and Timothy Patterson of Tewksbury and Steven Burke and Laurel Wood of Shawsheen Tech were among those honored at the second annual Academic Excellence Awards banquet held May 14 at the Sheraton Rolling Green in Andover.

Sponsored by the Merrimack
Valley Association of School Committees, the awards are presented to two seniors from each of the MVASC's 18 member schools. Selected by their high schools, these students have achieved the highest academic standings in their respective graduating classes. The banquet, attended by 180 persons was held to pay tribute to these young scholars for the extraordinary effort they have maintained in order to attain this level of excellence.

Each student received a plaque to commemorate the event.

WILMAC Astros home opener Friday

The Wilmington Athletic Club's entry in the Inter-City League opened their season Tuesday night, traveling to Somerville to face the Elms in an 8:30 game at Trum Field.

The Astros return home for their seasonal lid after on Friday, May 30 as they host the Wakefield Merchants in a six o'clock game at the North Intermediate School Field.

Former Wilmington High School pitcher Jay Hanfin will face the Merchants for manager Bob Dicey's nine, while Selectman Rocco DePasquale will toss out the first ball to begin the Astros' home season in the well-known Intercity League. Wilmington last played in the Carling League (now Inter-City) in 1967.

Wildcats end frustration, 78-67

At last. Twelve long years of frustration came to a raucous, but jubilant conclusion as a victorious Eric Cripasuk and third place finisher Darryl Whittemore were mobbed by the entire Wilmington High track team last Wednesday at the Tewksbury High School field.

Eric and Darryl represented the deciding points, as the Wildcats survived the fluctuating emotions present whenever two evenly matched track teams do battle, and make no mistake about it, this year's matchup between the Redmen and Wildcats was destined to be a barn-burner all the way.

After the first two events, Wilmington's chances looked rose with Chris Athanasia, Anthony Cutone and Peter Campbell engineering a sweep in the javelin, and Dave Kelley, Dan O'Donnell and Al Correiri earning another nine points in the shot put. That's the last time things would look easy for the Wildcats, however.

Tewksbury quickly countered with a sweep in the vault led by Brian Donahue, Jeff Stone and Brian Aylward, and the race was on. Eric Cripasuk's 21'2" rocket in the long jump coupled with a fine leap by Rick Smith earned six Cat points, but these points were balanced by Tewksbury's 1-3 finish in the discus where Doug Noyes' led at 139'11 and Chris McHardy threw 116 plus. Peter Campbell managed to split the pair with a mid-120's throw. The Wildats still led by nine.

Some nice work in the high jump by Tim Boudeau at 5'10" sealed a victory over Athanasia at the same height. The Cats lead had shrunk to six.

It took precisely 9:56.8 for the lead to move back to nine again, as Brian Ribeiro ran one of the most courageous two miles in WHS history to squeak out a one-foot victory over a flying Robbie Busch. No more than two strides separated the athletes over the gruelling eight laps. After Brian took the lead with two laps to go, he staved off repeated charges by his opponent over the final 880, winning by the narrowest of margins. Sophomore Paul Maiella deserves a lot of credit for his 10:55 third place finish.

Buddy McAllister and Mark Christoffels quickly trimmed the margin to two points with a 1-2 finish in the triple jump, Buddy's 41'3" winning. After eight events Wilmington was up, 37-35.

The second half of the meet began with a big 1-2 finish in the high hurdles from Kevin Cripasuk and Rick Smith, followed by a quick six points in the 100 meters from Eric Cripasuk (11.8) and Anthony Cutone, putting the Wildcats up by a dozen. Wilmington had it salted away, right? Wrong, again. Three events later the Wildcats trailed by two, as the Redmen took off on an 18-4 run.

Tim McCaffery (4:47.3) and Dave Kelleher battled for the top two places in the mile; a 45.8 relay time edged a fleet Wildcat quartet in the 4 X 110; and Ed Piscopo's 50.4 best ever in the 440 short-circuited a gallant effort by Wildcat captain John Desforge. Now things were getting serious.

Needing 18 points to win the meet, Wilmington went to work. Kevin Cripasuk sped a rapid 40.4 for a first in the 330 lows, as Steve Schultz looked good for second before being overhauled by a fast closing Rich Lapham.

Frank Dinsmore ran his usual 880, cruising in at 2:00.7. Eric Torell never gave up, as he captured a hard-earned third place, setting up the deciding 220 where Eric Cripasuk (22.9) and Darryl Whittemore prevailed.

The 4 X 440 team of Dinsmore, Jamie Penny, Dan D'Eon and Desforge put the lid on a sterling performance by the entire Wildcat team, as Johnny Desforge punched the air excitedly in victory on crossing the line in a not-too-shabby 3:36.9.

Seventeen athletes contributed to the Wildcat's scoring, and every point was important to the victory. Thirty others have made significant contributions to this league championship team and can be justly proud of their efforts, as well.

The Wilmington High School Wildcats. Champions.

TMHS girls' track

TMHS rolls to fifth victory

The Tewksbury High School girls track team rolled to its fifth victory against only two defeats last week. Taking first place in 11 of the 16 events, the TMHS squad scored 100 points to Wilmington's 35. The win left Tewksbury finishing second in the Merrimack Valley Conference behind Methuen, with Wilmington finishing third.

Chris Blake was once again an important factor in the meet. The hard running junior smoked to first place in the 100 meters, and then came back with a sturdy effort in the 440 to take that event going away.

The girls who finished second to Chris in each of those races contributed a great deal to the meet as well. Justine Short ran her best time of the season in the 100, and later won a solid victory in the 220. Krissie Connor did yeoman duty, finishing second to Blake in the 440 because she had already run the two mile to finish second behind Wilmington's outstanding Andrea Hayden.

Team captain Peggy Forsyth, as usual, carried her share of the load. After tying for first with Lisa Thayer in the high jump, Peggy ran the 880, an event she does not usually run, and won it with a good time.

All season long the Tewksbury girls have been trying hard to improve in the field events, and in the Wilmington meet there were some signs of progress. Sandy Keon uncorked her best discus throw of the season, a fine 89'9". Kris Conley scored a solid win in the long jump with a good 14'4" leap, and Lisa Thayer turned in a good effort to win the triple jump.

The TMHS hurdlers are becoming a well-rounded and ever-improving group. Amy DiGiorgio and Tricia Censullo ran the best 100 meter hurdle times of the season to take 2-3 in that event. Claire Tremblay made remarkable improvement in the 300 lows, bringing her time down to 51.9 and taking second. Wilmington's Pam McFayden was the winner in both of those races.

Both relay teams won their races. The 4 x 100 team of Amy DiGiorgio, Karen Corbett, Lisa Thayer and Kellie Lightfoot won easily, and the 4 x 440 team of Katie Frotten, Chrissy Juskiewicz, Chrissy Frotten and Jeanne Muise completed the meet with a nice first place finish.

This is the last week of the track season. The Tewksbury girls will wrap up a fine year with a meet against Billerica on Tuesday, the MVC meet on Friday and the State Class B meet on Saturday.

DOUG IULIANO, MANAGER

Tom Aprile Tournament

A reunion via softball

High school memories were rekindled and some not-so-faded athletic prowess was displayed as 17 softball games were played for fun and friendship in both rain or shine this past weekend during the annual Tom Aprile Memorial Tournament.

Over 300 players representing 19 Wilmington High School classes turned out to do battle that resulted in a pair of champions being crowned from the two tourney brackets. The 1973 contingent captured the 70's-80's bracket, while the 1969 squad was victorious in the 50's-60's division.

But the game results played a secondary role to the people involved. Many former Wildcats made great efforts to attend the tourney and the Sunday night reunion dance at the Sons of Italy Hall that provided the fitting caper to the weekend.

Esther Corum (1964) drove down from Nova Scotia to be on hand, while Bob Stewart (1969) made it from Pennsylvania and Gary Warford (1969) journeyed from New Orleans to make it just in time for the reunion dance.

The participation was not limited to the field, however. The Alumni Association handled the food concession and the Sons of Italy hosted the sold-out reunion dance.

1973 8 1982 6....Rick Peters was the hitting star for the champs with a three-run double in support of pitchers Jean Aprile and Karen Boeri. Joan (Bellissimo) Axelrod starred defensively at secondbase for the champions. Tim Quinn and Karen Evans spanked two hits apiece for the 1982 squad. Mike Gray was the losing pitcher.

1969 5 1961 4....Bob Stewart and Chuck Casey ripped three hits apiece for the champs, while Ed Gillis and Carolyn (Simmons) Gable helped the cause with two safeties apiece. Paul Bova (two hits), Joan Tuxbury (two hits) and Rick Froton (two-run double) sparked the 1961 club. Andy Sullivan hurled the win over Jack Cushing.

1982 2 1975 1....Rob Irwin and Craig Richards laced two hits apiece for the winners, as Robin Parsons pitched the win over Bob Butters. Laurie (McNabb) Bicknell and Kris Hinxman paced the losing squad with two hits apiece.

1961 10 1963 1....Rick Froton swung the big stick for the 1961 squad with three hits that drove in four runs. Dave and Joan (Tuxbury) Butt also helped the cause with two hits apiece. Jim Gillis and John Robbins combined for five 1963 squad hits. Jack Cushing chucked the win over Frank McLaughlin.

1969 6 1967 5....Bob Stewart's double drove in the tying and winning runs, as Andy Sullivan scored the victory over Jim Cushing. Chuck Kennedy stuck in two hits for the winners. Rick Norton belted a three-run homer for the 1967 squad, while Mark Peters was next in line with two safeties.

Dash to first

The Class of '67' Suzanne DeMaggio takes off for firstbase after ripping a baschit in the annual Tom Aprile Memorial Tournament this past weekend.

Close watch

Infielder Paul Bova keeps a close eye on his pitcher Jack Cushing during the Class of 1961' surge to the top of tourney play. Seventeen games were played, with 300 players representing 19 Wilmington High School classes.

Safe? No way

Class of 1967 thirdbaseman Bill Harrison appears to have tagged the bag for the force out of the oncoming runner, but the umpire doesn't see the play that way in Tom Aprile Memorial Tournament action.

TMHS boys' track

Redmen fall again

The Tewksbury High School boys' varsity track and field squad came close again, but ended up on the short end of a 78-67 score to the MVC Small School Champions, the Wilmington Wildcats in action last week.

Tewksbury will have finished its dual meet season with a meet against Large School opponent Billerica yesterday, and will be competing in the Class B Sectional state Tournament on Saturday at Reading High at 9:30 a.m. Tewksbury will be looking for a winning season vs Billerica, as they now have a 4-4-0 overall record.

Wilmington 78 Tewksbury 67

The score was tied 61-61 with only the 880 yard run, the 220 yard dash, and the mile relay left. Wilmington took first and third in both the 880 and 220, giving them 73 points, just enough to win.

The relay became meaningless, although if the Redmen had won the relay, the final score would have been 73-72 instead of 78-67.

Thus, the Redmen finished 1-3-0 in the Small School division, needing just three more points to defeat Lawrence, (73-points win a meet), as they lost 75-70, six and one-half points to defeat Methuen, losing 78 1/2-66 1/2, and six more points vs Wilmington. The one win came over Dracut, 112-33. Tewksbury's other win came over Large School opponents Central Catholic, 84-61. A forfeit win over Hudson Catholic has given the Redmen their 4-4-0 record.

The meet highlights were the setting of a new school record in the 440 yard run by senior Ed Piscopo, as the Northern area's number one seed ran a quick 50.4 time; and the win by the 440 yard relay squad of Buddy MacAllister, Kenn Coviello, Scott Fay and Richie Lapham is one of the school's fastest times ever recorded, 45.8. MacAllister also continued to impress in the triple jump, as he edged teammate Mark Cristoffels 41'3" to 40' 1 1/2" respectively.

Sophomores Billy Donahue and Jeff Stone tied for first place in the pole vault, as junior teammate Brian Aylward took the third position. All three jumped 9'6".

Junior Timmy Boudreau came back from a leg injury impressively, as he won the high jump with a 5'10" jump. Sophomore Mike Hennessy took third in the event with a 5'4" jump.

Senior Doug Noyes threw the discus a personal best of 139'1", winning the event, while teammate Chris McHardy took third place with a 116'10" toss.

Tewksbury took first and second in the mile relay, as juniors Tim McCaffery and Dave Kelleher ran 4:47.3 and 4:47.9, respectively. Jim Marsh, although not placing, recorded a personal best of 5:09.7 time.

The mile relay team of seniors Mark Christoffels, Mike Goodine, and Ed Piscopo, along with junior Pat Green ran an excellent time of 3:39.9.

Other scorers were Bud MacAllister, third in the 100 meter high hurdles; Robbie Busch, losing the two mile run by one-one hundredth of a second with a 9:56.80 time; Mark Christoffels, a second in the 100 meter run in 11.8; Kenn Coviello, second in both the long jump, with a personal best of 19'6 3/4" jump, and the 220 yard dash, with a 23.9 time; junior Pat Green who took third place in the 440 yard run; Richie Lapham ran a personal best 41.2 second place time in the 330 yard low hurdles, and senior Mike Goodine ran a personal best 2:08.6 880 yard run.

Wilmington displays heart in defeat

Boys Under 12-II

Although there was only one game, there were two different halves of soccer. North Reading won the first half on the strength of four goals. The first three were textbook quality, having been lifted high to sneak just under the crossbar, alluding the outstretched hands of goalie Tom Aprile. The fourth goal was kicked so powerfully that it broke through the clutches of goalie Steve Burns.

Wilmington was able to score one goal in that half, thanks to the solo effort of the ever-hustling John Burke.

Fortunately, the second half of soccer belonged to Wilmington. Mike King tallied early into the period on a fine effort. Thanks to the hustle of Marco Vitale, forcing the opposition's defense into losing control of the ball, Beau Birmingham was able to head the ball to the booming foot of Jason Earley, who adeptly ripped the nets to make the score, 4-3.

For the final 15 minutes, the ball was kept in North Reading's end almost exclusively. Great passing by Tom Aprile, Scott Audette, Mark Zambarnardi and Noel Baretta set up scoring bids by David Morgardo, Shane DeMaggio and Matt Lewis. Unfortunately, the No. Reading defense was equal to each attack.

Each boy played his heart out, despite the tremendous heat. Final score of an extremely well-played match was North Reading 4, Wilmington 3.

Boys Under 16

The boys returned to the winners circle last week with a hard fought victory over a strong Melrose team, 2-1. The teams fought to a halftime tie of 0-0 due to the fine defensive play of the Wilmington team led by Steven Killilea.

The second half opened with Melrose scoring one minute into the half on a corner. Wilmington fought back hard and tied the game on the first of Jeff Botte's goals at the 25 minute mark. The game remained a tie until Jeff's second goal with two minutes remaining.

Good games were turned in by fullback Chris Pozzi, John Oliver, Bob Carrieri and Paul Wheeler, along with halfbacks Adam Pagliarulo and Anthony Barletta.

Boys Under 12 I

The team won its' sixth consecutive game with a sparkling 3-0 defeat of Billerica. Christian Armata played very well at halfback for the victors. Also playing well at halfbacks were Jimmy DeMarco, David Dussault, Gerard Forgett and Joey Catanzano.

The goals were scored by Brent Carbone, Derrick Stokes and Tom Zaya. The scorers were assisted by Brian Wallace and John Lynch.

Chris DeFrancesco, David Oatis and Tommy Killilea played excellent games at their fullback positions. John Martins and Brent Carbone made several saves in goal to preserve the team's fifth shutout in six games.

Boys Under 14 II

After three consecutive losses, the boys came ready to play. The ball was kept in the opponents' end for most of the first half, with many scoring attempts. Good passing and aggressive play brought home a 4-1 victory over Reading.

This brings the boys record to 3-3 on the season. Great individual efforts from the entire team accounted for this win.

Boys Under 10 I

The boys played an outstanding game against the division's number one team, as they earned a 1-1 tie. In gaining their third tie of the season, the Wilmington team showed great position play and a hard working defensive effort.

Reading United scored the first goal of the game, but Wilmington came right back to even the score.

Combining in goal for Wilmington were Adrea Armata and Andrew Pagliarulo. Both goalies came up with key saves.

The defensive play was led by fullbacks Michael Moore and Craig

Metcalf, aided by David Major and Brian Surran on a warm afternoon.

The halfback play of John McKinnon, Michael Barletta, Patrick Cahill and Erik Shaffer was outstanding. Wilmington's lone goal in this game came off the foot of Billy Bates, who combined with Matthew Calandrello and Mark Wallace to keep pressure on the Reading team.

Girls Under 16

The sixth game was played on a hot, sun-baked field at Gage Park in Lowell. The opposition was leading 2-0 at the end of the first half. In the second half however, Debbie Dellascio made a break away from midfield and scored Wilmington's first goal.

The tying goal came when Terry Murray headed in a kick from a Lowell player who was attempting to clear an earlier shot on goal by Susan Killilea. The final and winning goal was made by Debbie Dellascio with less than a minute to play. She kicked a deflected ball into the lower left corner of the Lowell goal for the win.

It was a total team effort, as all the girls withstood the heat to come from behind and win.

Christine Bonarrigo and Denise Cosgrove were excellent, both as goalkeepers and as fullbacks. Kristin Catanzano, Sherri Lucchini and Amy LaBossiere were effective at the halfback positions, and Lori Cormier and Jennifer DeNinno were spirited forwards in launching offensive attacks.

Girls Under 10

During the past two weekends, Wilmington has won one and lost one, bringing its' record to four wins, two losses. On May 10, the girls traveled to Concord, where Wilmington scored at the midway point of the first half on a goal by Shannon Jepson with a great assist to Lisa DiPerri. Concord did not score in the first half and much credit goes to the great fullback work of Lynette Sbrano, Laura DeMarco, Megan McCarthy and Erin Gilhooly.

Concord scored its' first goal early in the second half. The game remained tied until Concord pushed across its' second goal with only four minutes to play for a 2-1 Concord victory.

Throughout the game Wilmington had good offensive chances from forwards Jaime Forgett and Amy Hermann and halfbacks Joe Pote and Leanne Harris.

The goalkeepers, Karen DeFrancesco, Mary Armata and Nancy Pote, all played superbly during this hard fought contest.

On May 17 Wilmington played at Billerica. At the 28 minute mark of the first half, Nancy Pote (Wilmington) scored with a nifty assist going to Lisa DiPerri. Many other scoring opportunities just missed on great plays from Amanda Zaya, Lori Laquidara and Jackie Hayden.

Jack Smith and Arnie Aprile were next with two hits apiece. Jack Cushing fired the win over George Hachey.

1967 9 1965 5....John Brown (two doubles) and Mike O'Rourke (two hits) sparked the winners, while the '65 squad was keyed by Paul Cote and Dennis DeMaggio with two hits apiece. Dennis also made four outstanding catches in leftfield as Jim Cushing scored the victory over Fred Neilson.

1969 7 1970 5....Chuck Casey (two doubles) and Ed Gillis (double, triple) led the way for the winners, as Andy Sullivan scored the win over Tom Coates. Bill Irwin and Terry McKenna laced two hits apiece for the 1970 squad.

1972 11 1971 7....Diane Paulson, Bernie Wagstaff and Kathy (Gillis) Warford paced the winners. Bill Gustus led the losing squad with two hits. Jack Conlin pitched the win over Dave Maglio.

1973 11 1974 7....The solid pitching tandem of Jean (Connell) Aprile and Karen Boeri held on for the victory behind the booming bat of Doug Harrison, who ripped out a grand slam homer among his three hits. Doug finished with six RBI's for the game. Kevin Herra's three-run homer supported losing chucker Joe Nickerson.

1977 14 1981 13....Jim Stewart and Bob Woods combined for five hits, as the combine of Betty (Cote) Maga and Jack Nickerson hurled the win over Rusty Ryan. Joe Burbine (two-run homer) and Kevin MacDonald (two doubles) paced the 1981 squad.

School committee to review plans for middle school

A letter from several concerned parents led Tony Accardi last Wednesday to question if parents were being led to believe the school committee had approved a middle school plan. Superintendent Robert Horan said nothing had been approved though they had discussed it in the past.

The letter was placed in each committee member's file by Horan who expected to bring up grade reorganization at that meeting. Because of the length of the agenda, he said, this was postponed.

Horan promised that, in the near future, seven to nine different plans for housing students to make the most of present building space will be reviewed by the committee.

One of the plans under consideration is the middle school concept of placing grades six through eight in one separate building. Other options include closing the Wildwood School, merging the two intermediate schools into one and changing the North Intermediate School into an elementary school, and opening up another school like Boutwell, Horan said.

Assistant Superintendent Henry Dembowski said he had been in touch with some of the ladies who signed the letter and they "only chose to hear one option on the middle school and it frightened them." He labeled the whole thing "a real emotional issue."

Phil-Fenton agreed the reaction was emotional. The committee went through the options a few years ago, he said, and at that time, members got the message "loud and clear" that they shouldn't go with a middle school concept.

Special election June 7

Absentee ballots are now available through Town Clerk Pat Lynch at the Town Hall for the June 7th special town election. The election is being held to approve or disapprove a Prop 2 1/2 override for a bond passed at April's town meeting to fund additional items for the high school renovation.

The election will be held between 10 a.m. and 8 p.m. on Sat., June 7. Precincts 1, 2 and 5 will cast their votes in the Town Hall while 3, 4, and 6 will vote at the Wildwood School.

The override vote has to pass by a simple majority, said Town Manager Buzz Stapczynski.

Survey of elderly

The National Center for Health Statistics has completed a survey of elderly people living alone and those living with someone else. The report estimates that about 8,000,000 people age 65 and over were living on their own. This accounts for 31 percent of all people in that age group.

The number of older Americans are increasing rapidly. Estimates state that most will be retiring between 62-65 years of age. Many will be living alone or with spouse. The report says these people will live longer, healthier and happier if they have a lot of friends they see the telephone often.

To help the large number of our elders who live alone, the Council has many programs available to help you meet new friends. Friends are important for socialization or to call upon when in need or lonely for moral support.

The following are excellent for meeting new friends:

Arts and crafts held in the craft room in the center every Tuesday and Thursday in the morning and afternoon;

Therapeutic exercise class held in the center every Monday and Wednesday mornings from 10-11 a.m.;

Walking under the supervision of Ed Curtis every Monday, Wednesday and Friday morning starting at 9;

Bowling on Wednesday afternoons at the Candlepin Lanes in North Reading at 1:30;

Swimming at Shawheen Tech, Billerica every Wednesday morning at 10;

Ballroom and line dancing under the instruction of a professional dance teacher every Friday afternoon at 1:00 at the Center;

Monthly therapeutic social, a variety of types of entertainment for the intermingling of the seniors in a social environment;

A volunteer visiting program, a large number of our seniors are now involved in this program visiting seniors confined to their homes, hospitals and nursing homes;

Widow to widow seniors losing a spouse helping those seniors beginning to experience the loss of a loved one;

Telephone assurance, this program is very active with shutins. It gives a chance to extend a little moral support to a new shutin or those shutins living alone.

Movie Day

Soon we will be starting a movie day at the center once a week. We have been donated a vcr by Video Paradise in Wilmington Plaza, for which we are very grateful

Beano game

A beano game will also be started once a week in the function room.

It has taken many years to activate all these programs which help our

Hospice: 'A job well done'

By JIM ROUILLARD

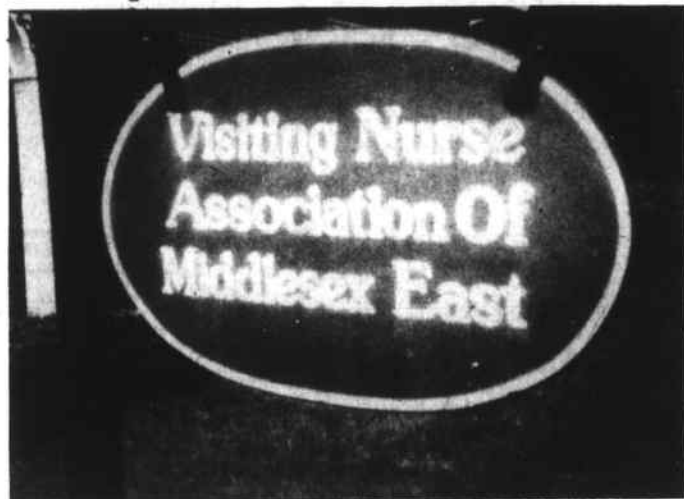

This is in some part a personal story.

But it is, in larger measure, the record of an immeasurable gift, and a job so well done it defies definition and, probably, the writer's ability to relate with full justice the superb teamwork of the people involved.

The team is the Visiting Nurse Hospice, a relatively new means to an old way.

Part of a growing though possibly endangered national concept, hospice has been defined by Senator Edward Kennedy as "a reality and a bright light in our health care system."

Headquartered at the former East Elementary School on Beacon Street in Stoneham, the local hospice serves residents of North Reading, Stoneham, Wakefield, Wilmington, Woburn, Medford and Melrose.

VITAL PROVIDERS in the hospice network of home care for the terminally ill, the Stoneham-based Visiting Nurse Association, Middlesex East is located on Beacon Street, in the former East School.

It is a cooperative effort by the Visiting Nurse Association (VNA) of Middlesex-East, and the Medford and Melrose VNAs. Other hospice programs serve other area communities.

And though hospice may not be appropriate for everybody, it can provide invaluable support during extremely difficult times.

The concept of "hospice" will be familiar to some. Since the middle ages, it has traditionally meant the shelter of travelers, children, or the destitute.

But today, locally and throughout the world, it is an avenue to strength and tangible caring, through assistance to families of the terminally ill and to the patients themselves.

It can mean essential medical assistance — a shot in the arm, literal or figurative — the listening ear of a friend — and the priceless gift of laughter in the final days.

Judy Player, R.N., hospice coordinator for VNA, Middlesex East, has an outlook toward patient care which may be at variance with what some see as the prevailing contemporary medical ethic, because it focuses more on the human than the clinical aspects of illness and healing.

An attractive mother of two who stencils her own blouses and makes many of her own clothes in the quiet of evening after intense workdays, the Arlington resident has a refreshing, possibly old-fashioned view of death and dying.

Austin Prep mock trial is prom time education

"A Case Against Driving While Intoxicated," a mock trial of a student arrested for driving under the influence, was recently held for members of the Junior and Senior Classes at Austin Preparatory School. This educational program was prepared by Austin's chapter of Students Against Driving Drunk and the school's Para-legal Society.

A scenario of events leading up to the mock arrest and trial of a student who had illegally bought and consumed alcohol was filmed and shown to the student body before the trial. The film featured Austin senior Michael Cavanaugh as himself, Michael MacMullin as Mac, and Douglas Prentiss as Mr. Cavanaugh. The film also featured young women from Woburn High School, Bishop Fenwick High School, and Our Lady of Nazareth Academy. Jim Guthro of Austin Prep was the cameraman.

Judge Louis Gonella of the Woburn District Court presided over the mock trial. Attorney Marion Ryan, Assistant District Attorney at the Cambridge Court, presented the Commonwealth's case. Defending Cavanaugh was Attorney John Cleary. Also participating were Mr. Paul Burke, Clerk of Courts in Woburn, Ms. Beverly Gibson, Juvenile Probation Officer of the Woburn District Court, Officer Spencer of the Wilmington Police Department, and Safety Officer Joseph Veno of the Reading Police Department.

The court case opened with Safety Officer Veno describing the events in Reading Square which led him to pull Cananaugh over to the side of the road and administer a series of tests to check his sobriety. Defense Attorney Cleary was unable to shake Officer Veno's story, and the case went to a jury of Austin upperclassmen without the defendant taking the stand. A verdict of guilty on all counts was returned. After the reading of the verdict Judge Gonella, Officer Veno, and the two attorneys answered students' questions about the issues involved.

As prom time approached the students of Austin Prep are increasing their efforts to educate their peers about the dangers involved in drinking and driving. The school recently sponsored a speaker from NARCONON. Last week Police Officer Terry Buckley, a 1982 graduate of Austin Prep and a member of the Essex Police Force, also spoke at the school.

Austin nurse Mary Bamberg, who is the adviser to S.A.D.D.,

noted that the generosity of a number of local organizations is making these programs possible. The school wishes to thank sponsors Case Drug of Reading, Continental Cablevision of Reading, Poland Springs of Tewksbury, Coca-Cola of Lynn, Copywize, Inc. of Reading, and the Austin Development Office. Aberjona Auto Parts is providing, for the second time, a demonstration model to provide dramatic evidence of the dangers involved in unsafe driving. Mr. Schofield of Acton-Boxborough High School helped to provide props.

LORRAINE ABREU, OF WOBURN & AND JUDY PLAYER, Coordinator for Visiting Nurse Hospice of Middlesex East, based in Stoneham, are two among the staff providing care in the home for the terminally ill, helping to enable patients to die in dignity, peace and comfort.

A job well done

explained, hospice will assist terminal patients to die in dignity, comfort and peace in their own homes.

Hospice focuses on home care, but its services continue to be available during hospitalization admission to long-term care facilities.

In a relaxed interview over herbal tea, during a brief respite from one patient's care, Player emphasized that many considerations are involved in opting for hospice.

One among these, in what Player stresses is a complex set of issues, might be the very essence of the Hippocratic oath and what Player sees as some of the medical fraternity's interpretation of that oath, or

"life on any terms."

This might be the "extraordinary means" used to resuscitate a clinically dead person, or devices to keep a brain-dead patient alive with a respirator, tubes, intravenous nourishment, oxygen tanks and tubing.

Underscoring the need to avoid too simplistic a view of medical ethics, Player stressed that hospice is one option among many for the terminally ill. If hospice is indicated, the resources of the VNA will come into play, including community health nurses, social workers, occupational and speech therapists, home health aides, maternal-child specialists, nutritional consultants and volunteers.

Bright, creative, committed,

Player revealed no weariness, despite what would be for many an exhausting and draining schedule: midnight visits to patients' homes, repeated rousings from sleep by her 24-hour beeper, the deluge of paperwork created by the exploding documentation demands of the government.

Woburn's Lorraine Abreu elaborated further on the concepts of individual patient dignity, death and dying.

One writer has described current national attitudes towards illness, Abreu said, as part of America's "throwaway society," a view which may even apply to the elderly and the ill.

"It's as if death and dying are things to be avoided and concealed," Abreu said. "They're seen as an embarrassment, an ugliness to be hidden in nursing homes or hospitals where people's discomfort and loneliness are likely to be witnessed, too often, only by the staff."

Abreu, one of the hospice "shock troops", home health aides responsible for the bulk of personal patient care which hospice provides, is a diminutive, empathetic, pretty woman. The fervor of her commitment to patients and families, in fact, goes so far beyond the professional that she admits it can sometimes be painful.

Yet She sought hospice work, and feels privileged to be with families who are trying to keep their fathers, husbands, mothers, wives or children comfortable in familiar surroundings in the time of dying, though the void and shock of loss, which may sometimes be two or three patients a week, Abreu added, can be difficult.

A fervent advocate for the personal touch over the strictly professional, Abreu affirms, however, that she is unlikely to alter her commitment to hospice. Though her work is sometimes painful, she said, it provides both joy and a real chance for serving others.

The Hospice for the Dying movement began in England in the late fifties and early sixties, according to Michael Hamilton and Helen Reid, editors of "A Hospice Handbook — A New Way to Care for the Dying." It was primarily the creation of Dr. Cicely Saunders, who recognized that many patients were receiving inadequate care in hospitals and that relatives were having problems in caring for the dying at home.

For Judy Player, and all the members of the local VNA hospice program, including Lorraine Abreu and other staff too numerous to name, the key issue rests in the quality of life and of death.

"The dying are often lonely, frightened and in pain. They deserve special care and attention," according to editors Hamilton and Reid. "All of us will die one day, and we need to prepare for that time."

Senator Kennedy referred to hospice as part of a movement to humanize the way medical care is given. Affirming that "The family is the basis and strength of our society," he wrote, "Our families are strengthened by sharing and participating in the death of a loved one ...T.S. Eliot could have been speaking of hospice when he said:

"What we call the beginning is often the end and to man an end is to make a beginning."

This story, too, must end, but as its beginning implied, with a personal note. I wrote at the outset that this is in some part a personal story. So it is.

One of the families involved in the VNA Hospice for the past year has been my own — so my views may reflect some measure of bias. But, if so, it is a positive bias — of hidden strength found and essential assistance granted at a time of most urgent need.

Consider the bias, but reflect as well on the good work that hospice can achieve. If it turns out you or your family tries hospice, I feel safe in asserting there will be no regrets. For though the burden may appear great, the personal, emotional and spiritual rewards are truly beyond belief.

Congestive Heart Failure?

Shortness of breath and fatigue are often symptoms of Congestive Heart Failure. A clinical trial is currently being organized to determine whether digoxin and diuretics are of value in the treatment of this condition.

This trial is being offered by a major drug company at no cost to a selected patient group interested in proving the effectiveness of a current and newer approach in the treatment of congestive heart failure.

Amtrak is proving to be a favored way to travel, as increases have been registered in the last year on almost all long-distance trains. In particular, those routes showing the largest gains in passenger miles were in the East - the Florida Auto Train, up 121 percent; the "Lake Shore Limited" from New York and Boston to Chicago, up 43 percent; the Broadway/Capital Limited from New York and Washington to Chicago, up 39 percent. Amtrak attributes its gains in passengers and miles traveled both to the success of its "All-Aboard America" promotional fares encouraging long-distance travel and to an increasing number of sales by travel agents using automated

Slavic Society elected

Four Austin Prep sophomores have been elected to membership in Slava, the National High School Slavic Honor Society. Jason Craven, Peter Dubuque, Ronald Passerini and Eric Smyt won this honor by their outstanding work in Russian, which they have been studying at Austin for the past two years. Slava is a nation-wide organization which honors excellence in the study of Slavic languages and literature. Austin Prep has one of the forty-six Slava chapters in the United States. Jason Craven of North Reading has been an active member of the Russian Club for the past two years, and was recently elected to serve as its President for next year. He has participated in Russian Club field trips to Amherst, Cambridge, Andover, and Boston. Last fall he took part in an educational visit to Washington, D.C., which included a meeting with a representative of the Russian Desk at Voice of America, the Slavic Room of the Library of Congress, the Russian Orthodox Cathedral, and Georgetown University. Craven also participates each year in the New England Olympiads of Spoken Russian. Like all four of the new inductees, he is a member of the accelerated group of Austin Prep's second-year Russian class. At Austin's recent Awards Night Program he was named recipient of the 1986 Russian Club Award. During the presentation Austin faculty member Robert Hennessey spoke of the enthusiastic leadership which the young man has provided in the club's cultural, intellectual, athletic and recreational activities over the past two years. Peter Dubuque of Billerica is also a member of Austin's Russian Club, and tutors in Russian for the Honors Help Club. He is a member of the school's Orientation Committee, and has won bronze and gold medals in the New England Olympiads of Spoken Russian. SEWING AT ALL AGES

Sewers of all ages take note: Singer is on the lookout to reward your sewing talent.

Singer, which has been synonymous with sewing for over 135 years, is sponsoring a sewing contest now through August 1st for teenagers and adults alike.

The grand prize is a trip for two to The Big Apple, New York City, with a fun-filled night on Broadway.

The second prize is one of Singer's new state-of-the-art "miracle" sewing machines, their top-of-the-line Ultra Unlimited which, in addition to basic and popular sewing machine features, has unlimited stitch capability, monograms and embroiders automatically, and even sews sideways.

Thousands of prizes are also being given at the local level to entrants and winners alike.

The contest centers around the creation of a craft item using a Singer sewing machine — projects such as pillows, soft sculpture, wall hangings and samplers. Two winners will ultimately be selected on the national level in both the teenage and adult categories based on their projects' overall appearance, creativity and basic construction.

Judging will take place on the local level through participating Singer retailers in early August with the final winners selected and announced by Singer sewing headquarters in late September.

Contest brochures and entry forms are available at all local participating Singer approved retailers.

Poltergeist II

Short Takes

Poltergeist II: The Other Side Starring Jobeth Williams, Craig T. Nelson, Heather O'Rourke, Zelda Rubenstein. Directed by Brian Gibson. Produced and written by Michael Grais and Mark Victor. Rated R (profanity).

The Freeings certainly are having a tough time of it. First, those frisky ghosts in Poltergeist stole the baby, Carol Ann (Heather O'Rourke), and then stole the family homestead. Now, in the sequel, the insurance company won't believe that their house is missing, they are crammed into the grandmother's (Geraldine Fitzgerald) home and strange things are starting to happen again.

Too bad director Tobe Hooper wasn't around this time to help things along, because a lot of the original zip that made this story so appealing is notably missing. While there are few funny throw-away lines, there is a lot of hackneyed and sentimental dialogue that further helps to muddle the convoluted plot. By the time you find out why the Freeings have invoked the wrath of the Otherworld, you are praying for the ghosts to come back.

In the original movie it was enough to be frightened by a showdown of good against evil. The filmmakers shouldn't have gone to such pains to explain the reasons behind the phantasmic revolt and instead should have repaired the ragged ending and wordiness.

However, it would be unfair not to admit that there are a few moments where your spine does tingle and your toes inadvertently curl. Julian Beck as the spiritual leader of the pack has an unearthly, creepy appeal and the special effects are realistic enough to make your palms sweat. One in particular will have everyone who ever wore braces clenching their teeth.

Unfortunately, it is not enough to live for the thrills. It's kind of like having dessert all the time — you need something substantial in between. And, while Craig T. Nelson is endearingly humorous as the fearful, panicked father and Jobeth Williams is always appealing, you can't help but feel like you were cheated out of a great ghostly yarn.

Short Takes

Sweet Liberty will never be classified as high art, but it is a cute little story about summer movie madness with a lot of laughs that never panders to the intelligence of the audience. Alan Alda has come through with a slightly irreverent, sarcastic and thoroughly entertaining look at a movie company that is trying to rewrite history. Rated PG...

Three Men and a Cradle is a sweet, sometimes humorous romp about three bachelors and the wide-eyed baby they care for. While it is an amusing film, it boggles the mind that it won three Oscars (French Oscars). Maybe hilarity doesn't translate. Rated PG 13...

Fire with Fire chronicles a boy meets girl love story. He's an inmate in a reform school, she's kept under close watch at a Catholic school. They shouldn't have bothered, and neither should you. Rated PG-13.

Top Gun has plenty going for it if you like Tom Cruise's muscular physique, Kelly McGillis' legs and the best stunt flying ever recorded. If you want a substantial plot or intelligent dialogue, look elsewhere. Rated PG...

Burny Boiler

Before: Poor Burny Boiler, the heating system. He coughs, sputters, shims and shakes and doesn't feel at all well. He doesn't operate very well either, delivering poor efficiency, burning too much oil, and not giving his family enough heat and hot water. Due to neglect, Burny Boiler is on the verge of a "Heating System Breakdown"

Enter the service dept. at SKYVIEW OIL

Burny Boiler was brought back to the productive, energy efficient heating system he was designed to be through a customer care service policy (or service contract) from Skyview Oil. With the help of the Skyview Oil professional service technicians, Burny Boiler burns clean again and gets his family the heat and hot water they need.

After: Burny now lives on an oil diet brought to him by the "automatic delivery" system at Skyview Oil. The service contract brings preventive maintenance into Burny's life as he stays trim, fit and efficient.

Woodchips

By ANTHONY MANCONI

"Speak to me of love and say what I'm longing to hear. Tender words of love, repeat them again I implore you." These are words of a beautiful song that was popular years ago. But, words of love that are not put into practice are like preaching an eloquent sermon but not vibrantly living it. It is indeed important to say, "I love you" to someone, but it's better to say it with flowers, compassion and understanding. Talking is like steam escaping from a tea-kettle. The sound may be melodious and pleasing to the listening ear, but it doesn't accomplish anything. Sing songs to those you love - then hug, kiss and embrace them - even a gentle touch will do far "more" to prove your love than a "torrent" of words.

My wife Kathy, reading this Chip said, "Okay, put your money where your mouth is and buy me a mink coat." "Because of the love that I have for animals," I told her, "I can't do that, but I'll buy you a coat from 'Sacks'." "You mean, Sak's Fifth Avenue?" "No." I answered as I started to run for cover, "I mean Sacks from the potato fields of Maine."

One has to travel away from his or her home turf to know how many people read and appreciate what you write. Mary Gail MacMaster of Lowell reads Woodchips, because her handsome Marine Reserve brother Dan brings a copy of the Woburn Times every week. Mary Gail is a school teacher with a marvelous sense of humor and a lot of "Class."

My cousin Angelo Quaganti of Wakefield was fishing with his brother George, when a game warden surprised them and asked to show him their licenses. Angelo started to run with the game warden hot on his heels. Twenty minutes later he stopped running and produced a valid fishing license. "Why in the world did you let me chase you?" "Because my brother George doesn't have a license."

Metro officer Bob Barrows, formerly with the Registry of Motor Vehicles in Woburn told Mrs. Eileen Pierce (retired) was one of the finest ladies who worked there.

Mr. Joe Foley of Tewksbury asked Rowan Fitzgerald of Woburn if he knew any big men who were born in Woburn. "No," replied Rowan, "only small babies."

For any ladies reading this Chip, please, do not be one of the first to leave an "afternoon tea." You may well be the target of conversation of some "sweet" young or older ladies who would make "Jack the Ripper" look like a "Choir Boy." Chiquita wants to divorce her husband. She found out that she was not the "top banana" in his life, just one of a "bunch". He "appealed" to her not to "split".

My boss, Pete Bolin, and his lovely wife Joelen, are coming to dinner tonight so I asked my wife Kathy to clean up the house a little bit by picking up a shovel and dust. I asked my Pastor why he is always asking for money. "I thought religion was as free as the water we drink?" I asked. "Woodchipper," he replied, "it is. You are just asked to pay for the 'piping'."

Some people's names match their occupations like - Fred

Carpenter works in a lumber yard; Mike Cook is a chef; John Taylor is a CPA, Cleaning, Pressing and Alterations. New members of the Woodchips Fan Club - Judy Foley, Winchester; Olin and Lorraine Brown, Woburn.

There should be a retirement home for "Mailmen" who have lost their "ZIP". Willie Pep, the great former World Featherweight Champion said, "First the legs go, then the reflexes go and then your friends go." Elinora Hurley and Blanche Burke won the Winchester Tennis Club Tournament last year. I remember at a championship tennis game at Longwood, a "Monarch Butterfly" landed on the top of the net. Both players stopped playing, walked towards the butterfly and gently placed their rackets close enough so that it got on one of them, then both players walked to the sideline and the butterfly took off and gracefully flew over the stands and out of the area. The fans stood up and applauded and from that point on, it didn't matter who won the match, for they were both Champions.

The I.R.S. demands that fishermen declare their "net" earnings. I was happy to learn that the Nolan family members are readers of Woodchips. Johnny is a retired bartender who told me that one slow night he saw an old termite having a very difficult time on the mahogany bar. It noticed a group of termites on the other end of the bar having it a lot easier so it "waddled" down to them and asked, "Pardon me, but is the Bar-Tender here?"

Walter Nolan worked for the B & M Railroad. My Aunt Maria took the train to Boston from Wilmington and, as it approached the North station, she asked Walter, "Sir, which end of the train do I get off?" "Either end," he replied, "they both stop at the same time."

Rita Nolan was a telephone operator. On one call she was asked to help when Howie Murphy called his brother saying, "Dennis, send me a hundred dollars." Dennis kept saying, "I don't hear you Howie." Rita said, "There isn't anything wrong with the connection." "Well then," Dennis exclaimed, "you send him the hundred dollars."

Mike Maloney is a retired police officer who said in his long career he didn't arrest anybody - they arrested themselves. He explained that he always gave people a "second chance". Folks, even if you are on the right track, you will get run over if you just sit there. Will Rogers said that. Jimmy (Murphy) Giovanni and his lovely wife Bertha, won many dance contests years ago. The Commandore, in Lowell, Kimball's Starlight and the Spanish Gables and many other dance halls were favorites of this wonderful couple.

One young lady I was dancing with asked if I was a toe dancer because I had been stepping on hers all night. "I'll have you know," I told her, "that dancing is in my blood." "Well," she said, "you must have poor circulation, because it hasn't reached your feet yet."

Congratulations to the Neilson family on the 30th anniversary of the Town Crier. Capt. Larz is the Publisher; Fred is the Editor, with Stuart Advertising Manager. Frank Tuttle of Wilmington presented a hand-carved plaque he made. Thanks Frank. Woodchips salutes Wilmington's 21st Good Guy, Judy DiPalma. M.C., Michael Cairn, said it well. "Judy is a good citizen, neighbor, friend, mother and wife - a person we're all proud to know."

The Gardener

I wonder where the worms are, as I dig and turn the soil? Where are the moths and beetles, as my back breaks with toil? Potato bugs and gypsy moths, I know you're here somewhere. You're just biding your time, to give me a nightmare.

I know that in the summer, when everything starts to grow, The bugs and gypsy moths, and some that I don't know.

Pay their daily visit at night or early morn' Then eat my beans and lettuce, and golden yellow corn.

Sometimes I sit and wonder why I perform this yearly chore? Why don't I do what others do and buy at a fruit store? Communing with Mother Nature is the answer, I guess But I wish those demon insects would move to another address.

Bargains can be found for Alaskan cruises

Alaskan cruises are "in" this year, and as a result, many lines have switched their ships to the Pacific northwest from the Mediterranean and other "problem" areas.

While thousands more passengers are expected to sail to Alaska this summer, the additional tonnage means there are some excellent bargains available, according to Ted Hankoff, President of Worldwide Discount Travel Club.

Travelers also have a good choice of departure areas, including Seattle, Prince Rupert Island, Ketchikan, Vancouver and San Francisco.

The cruises are for seven, nine, ten, 12, and 14 nights, and depending on dates, fares are discounted from 20 to 45 percent.

Typical of the bargains is a seven night cruise June 2 from Seattle. Cost is $509 per person, compared with the standard price of $949. Another is a seven night sailing from Ketchikan on June 3 for $839 per person, compared with the standard price of $1,589.

Worldwide Discount Travel Club offers these discounted fares plus many others on airlines, package tours, hotels, and rental cars for its members. When carriers or cruise lines know they won't be able to sell some seats or cabins, they discount them figuring they'd rather get something than nothing.

Worldwide is not a travel agency, nor is it competing with travel agents. Worldwide is a national membership organization. It earns its money from family membership fees which are $45 per year and small markups on discount tours. Upon enrollment, members receive a travelog bulletin sent by computer originated mailgram every third Friday, plus a tollfree phone privilege to call for unpublished last minute bargains as little as three days before departure. They also receive a $100,000 common carrier insurance whenever on a club sponsored trip.

Variety? There's plenty of it, and it's constantly changing. Worldwide's bulletin is typically two pages in length and contains several hundred different offerings. They range from tour to Europe to visits to the Caribbean, from packages to Australia to TransAtlantic cruises.

Departure cities vary, but they are primarily major gateways, such as Miami, New York, Atlanta, Boston, Houston, Chicago, Philadelphia, Los Angeles, and others.

For further information, contact Worldwide Discount Travel Club, Inc., 1674 Meridian Ave., Miami Beach, Fla. 33139 or telephone (305) 534-2082.

ON YOUR FEET
Hammer Toe

Hammer toes are small-toe deformities that occur in the little joints of the toes. Their cause can be attributed to inherited bone and joint structures and are aggravated by shoe gear.

A Hammer toe is usually a "flexor" or "claw-like" deformity of the first joint of the small toes. The joint then buckles upwards and rubs in the shoe. The rubbing irritates the skin and joint and causes a painful swollen joint along with a painful corn over the joint.

Following a thorough examination we will discuss our treatment modalities. Correction of this deformity can be the simple releasing of tendons to correct the "claw-like" deformity or the removal of a small piece of bone together with the releasing of tendons to realign the joint. All these procedures are done in the office operator under safe local anesthesia. Proper correction of these problems usually results in little post-operative discomfort and good long term results.
